Floating Pound Crisis

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Common Market finance ministers seeking to restore stability and European monetary unity following Britain's floating of the pound ended their meeting early Tuesday with agreement on ways to support the ailing Italian lira and avert a further crisis.

The agreement permits Italy to use weakened dollars until July 15 to repay countries that have used harder currencies to support the falling lira. The gesture apparently is aimed at keeping Italy from leaving the Common Market monetary agreement, which Britain broke temporarily by floating sterling.

Sources said the crisis agreement calls for central bankers to come up with a return-to-normal solution that can be put into effect in three months.

Another reported part of the agreement is that the other five current Common Market members must intervene with support buying of the lira if it continues to drop.

Belgian sources said all common market foreign currency markets will reopen Wednesday. The London market reopens Tuesday. Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Anthony Barber, announced that Monday night after meeting Britain's future Common Market partners.

The traditional Common Market monetary agreements keeps members' currency fluctuations within a narrower range than last December's Washington agreement for major world currencies.

Barber said he told Britain's future Common Market partners that London intends to return it to a fixed rate for the pound "as soon as possible." But he declined to tell newsmen when or what the new rate would be.

Quota Lift Reaction

Agricultural associations, meat packers and ranchers expressed doubt Monday that the lifting of quota restrictions on meat imports would significantly slow the upward spiral of meat prices.

One group, the American National Cattlemen's Association, said the lifting of quotas by President Nixon could backfire and cause the price of meat to go even higher.

"We think that competing products could possibly come in and raise their prices, and Mrs. Housewife could possibly wind up paying more than she is now," said John Trotman, president of the association.

"We don't think that lifting import levels will significantly lower beef prices at this time," the Trotman added. "We are very disturbed and upset at the President's action."

The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, William J. Kuhfuss, also was upset, saying, "Farmers and ranchers are relieved that a decision has been made to avoid imposing price ceilings on raw agricultural commodities. However, we are deeply concerned at the continuing reluctance of the Nixon administration and Congress to deal with the root cause of inflation."

Kuhfuss urged Congress to "move vigorously to reduce federal spending... sound fiscal policies will make unnecessary the temporary and politically expedient measures now being promoted."

Two of the country's larger meat packing firms, Swift Fresh Meats Co. and Wilson Certified Foods, said they expect the President's action to have little effect on meat prices.

Noel L. Dike, president of Swift, said the effect on prices "will depend entirely on the amount of meat available from other countries."

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute said approximately seven per cent of the meat consumed in the United States this year was imported from other countries. He pointed out that importing countries, many of them faced with meat shortages like the United States, may not be able to significantly increase their volume of meat imports.

A spokesman for the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, a commodities futures market, said that if the supply of meat in the United States increases, "it will generally have a bearish effect on the market and will draw prices down."

Floodwaters Recede

Swollen rivers receded toward their banks in eight eastern states Monday, and the worst floods in the seaboard's history appeared at an end, except for a few pockets of crisis.

The death toll climbed to 123, the greatest to occur in multi-state flooding in 35 years.

Among the latest victims were three newsmen covering the floods who were killed in the crash of a helicopter at Harrisburg, Pa. They were Sid Brenner, 45, and Louis Clark, 51, of Philadelphia station WCAU, and Del Vaughn a CBS newsmen who was hitching a ride with the WCAU crew. The pilot also was killed.

Drinking water was the gravest problem still confronting many of more than 100 flood-stricken communities. Supplies remained cut off or contaminated, and fresh water was being trucked in and doled out.

President Nixon promised new infusions of federal rebuilding aid where needed, after complaints that initial allocations from Washington fell far short in an inflation era of offsetting more than $1 billion in flood damages.

Tens of thousands were returning to shattered or sodden homes. One such home lay across a highway in the hard-hit Corning, N.Y., area, forcing motorists to inch by on either side. At the height of the flooding, more than 350,000 homes were evacuated.

As waters fell, a flood of help began to inundate many sectors. It consisted of supplies being brought in by well-meaning but over-eager volunteers. One such showed up in upstate New York with a truck load of cots, only to be told: "We don't need any more cots. I don't know where you should take them."

"We just don't have the room to store anything like this," said Wellsville, N.Y., Mayor Robert Gardner, referring to the unregulated flow of volunteer material.

Nixon Acts On Meat Costs
Lift Meat-Import Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon acted Monday to dampen surging meat prices by removing all restrictions on meat imports.

But he shunned any general food-price freeze and said there won't be immediate reductions in meat costs at the supermarket.

Officials said that while Nixon has ruled out a temporary price freeze on meat and other farm products, controls still may be imposed on now-exempt agricultural products such as fruit, vegetables and meat.

Nixon said the lifting of meat-import quotas for the balance of 1972 should overcome "a short-term shortage" but "may not fully solve the problem" of rising prices. He vowed, however, that he would "take whatever further measures that are necessary to prevent increases in the cost of food."

His quota removal decision was prompted by recent rapid rises in wholesale meat prices, the third surge in the wholesale level in five months. It appeared aimed at stabilizing prices before the higher costs reach retail meat counters this election-year.

"I intend to monitor this situation closely, and I want to assure every American housewife that this administration is firmly determined to prevent unjustified increases in the cost of food," the chief executive said in a written statement issued at the White House.

In a briefer statement he read for television cameras,

Nixon said meat prices have been rising because increased demands have not been matched by increased supplies.

Most of the meat imports arrive frozen in refrigerated ships and are processed for such products as hamburger, frankfurters and luncheon meat. Little of it is placed on the counter as higher-cost cuts such as steak and roast.

About the time the President was acting, a House Agriculture subcommittee voted 10 to 3 in favor of keeping livestock prices uncontrolled.

But the subcommittee recommended also that the General Accounting Office and the Federal Trade Commission inquire into the retail meat-pricing system. And it urged intensified efforts to improve productivity in the meat industry.

Tenuous Truce Takes Effect In N. Ireland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army began at midnight Monday the first full truce in Northern Ireland since they launched their bloody campaign to oust the British three years ago.

In the final hours before the cease-fire, gunmen killed a policeman and a British soldier in a rash of shootings, bombings and robberies. In all, at least eight persons were killed and scores wounded, including as many as 16 guerrillas.

The army reported no violence in the first tense half hour after midnight.

The truce was announced last week by the nationalist Provisional wing of the outlawed IRA. But the Provisionals warned Monday that the battle would begin anew if necessary.

A burst of submachine gun fire in Londonderry killed the British trooper. The Provisionals claimed responsibility for the shooting. A policeman was shot earlier in Newry.

Eight persons were wounded in a crossfire between troops and guerrillas in the Duncairn Gardens area of northern Belfast.

The deaths brought the toll of fatalities to at least 385 in three years of sectarian strife that have toppled three Ulster prime ministers, smashed the seemingly unbreakable rule of the Protestant-based Unionist party and forced Britain to assume supreme powers over the rebellious six counties.

Just how many guerrillas have been slain by security forces is not known. IRA dead often are spirited away from the battle scene by comrades.

The Provisionals said they were prepared to mete out summary justice to any dissidents who refused to observe the cease-fire.

"We shall be keeping a close watch on some people," a

Provisional leader told newsmen in Londonderry. "They will be dealt with very quickly if they step out of line."

But a statement from Provisional headquarters in Dublin added that the group "stands on full alert to take defensive action should the need arise and ready to resume offensive activities if the leadership decide this is necessary." It said the IRA was "stronger and better equipped than ever before."

But there was no letup in guerrilla violence.

Behind the turmoil came persistent reports that Britain was already relaxing some of its tight security laws in the troubled province as a token of its good will toward the IRA cease-fire. Government sources, however, declined to confirm the reports, which aroused Protestant suspicions that the British made an undercover deal.

First Draft Of Demo's Platform Pledges Indochina Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A first draft of the Democratic platform Monday pledged an "immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indochina," echoing the vow of Sen. George McGovern if he becomes president.

This plank and one which promised a cut in U.S. troop levels in Europe were headed for challenge before the Democrats' 150-member policy committee, working all day in heat, congestion and confusion in the Mayflower Hotel.

The committee was bombarded with scores of other proposed changes in the bulky platform written in two days by its 15-member drafting subcommittee after two weeks of cross-country hearings.

The Vietnam pullout plank is given good chances of surviving, because McGovern forces are numerous and active. But several other planks are under strong attack, including a middle-road statement on racial school busing.

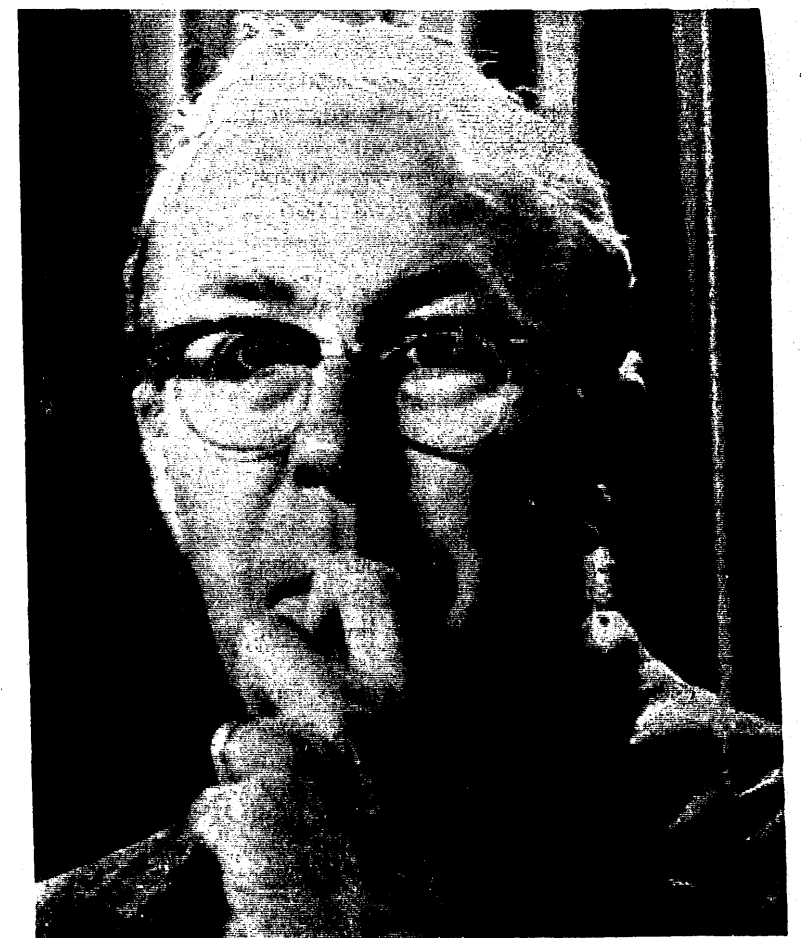

Supporters of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama served notice they would press—both here and if necessary at the Democratic National Convention opening in Miami Beach July 10—for a strong antibusing plank.

The subcommittee's version said busing is one tool for improving the quality of education, and added: "Where it serves the goal, we endorse it; where it does not serve that goal, we do not."

The liberal tinge of committee thinking was reflected in a surprise vote to oppose the pending Social Security and welfare bill. The plank now is an embarrassment to many Democratic members of Congress who voted for the measure, which contains strong

McGovern Receives Support Of Blacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George McGovern claimed Monday he is within a handful of votes of locking up the Democratic presidential nomination, but rivals challenged his claim to two blocs of delegates vital to first-ballot victory.

The South Dakota senator at one point said he had gained the support of enough black delegates to swell his total past a convention majority, but his strategists recounted and said later in the day they were wrong.

They claimed 1,492.75 votes for a nomination that will go to the Democrat who can assemble 1,509.

Dissenting blacks and an aide to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota disputed McGovern's claim that the endorsement of some black political leaders would deliver him 96.75 previously uncommitted black delegate votes.

McGovern and his allies claimed to have gained the support of seven of 11 black convention delegates from South Carolina, but one delegate said "I've checked this out and I'll have to say someone's playing games."

Humphrey also challenged the winner-take-all system under which McGovern won the entire 271-vote California delegation by defeating him in that state's presidential primary election.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York joined in challenging that delegation in statements filed at a hearing of the Democratic Credentials Committee.

They seek to strip McGovern of 151 of the California delegates, which could hold him short of a first-ballot majority.

Meanwhile, Democratic platform draftsmen, also in session in Washington, produced a preliminary document that pledged—as has McGovern—immediate and total withdrawal of U.S. forces from all of Indochina.

The 150-member Platform Committee still faced controversy over issues such as welfare, defense spending and school busing.

The Platform Committee rejected, 78 to 16, a plank proposed by supporters of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace who sought a pledge to support a constitutional amendment outlawing busing to achieve racial balance.

Instead, the panel adopted a plank endorsing busing when it serves the goal of improving the quality of education. In effect it endorses desegregation which Wallace has strongly opposed in the past.

Army Surveillance Not To Be Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, a narrowly divided Supreme Court Monday barred a trial of the Army's surveillance of civilians.

Burger said in the 5-4 decision that courts cannot serve "as virtually continuing monitors of the wisdom and soundness of executive action." That, he said, is a job for Congress.

The surveillance, conducted by some 1,000 agents beginning in 1965, was challenged in a suit brought by four individuals and nine groups, some of them war protesters.

Burger said they evidently wanted to use the courts to probe the Army's intelligence-gathering activities, with which they disagreed.

Instead of showing their freedom of speech had been injured or even threatened, Burger said, they presented allegations of a subjective nature.

Therefore, Burger said, the suit cannot be considered.

The ruling, reversing a federal appeals court here which had ordered a full inquiry, was produced by the four Nixon administration appointees plus

Justice Byron R. White.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall voted to uphold the lower court, whose ruling was written by another administration-named judge, Malcolm R. Wilkey.

Douglas said no law authorizes surveillance over civilians and that "one can search the Constitution in vain for any such authority."

In a second major, 5-4 ruling, the Court granted grand jury witnesses the right to challenge the legality of government wiretapping before testifying.

Set aside, as a result, were the contempt convictions of Sister Joques Egan and a former nun, Anne Walsh, who balked at helping a grand jury investigate an alleged kidnap plot against presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Brennan, delivering the decision, said the 1968 Safe Streets Act was designed to protect privacy and strictly limit wiretapping. At the same time, said, the law serves to bar tempt judgments until the tapper shows he acted legally.

Volunteer Army:

Education Offer Makes Difference

Apart from doubts about the wisdom of phasing out the draft and creating a "professional" Army, the question most frequently asked is, how do you go about establishing an all-volunteer service?

The answer most frequently heard is to increase the pay. Other incentives to attract enlistees are mentioned, such as better living conditions and better career opportunities within the Army, but most of the talk is about better pay.

A recent study by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research (ISR) indicates that another incentive may have greater appeal than money to young men pondering military service—the guarantee of four years of paid schooling in return for four years of service.

"Perhaps most important are the differences in the kinds of young men attracted by the two incentives," say Jerome Johnson and Jerald Bachman, the study's directors.

They report that when higher pay as an incentive was contrasted with paid schooling, "those attracted by paid schooling averaged higher in intelligence, verbal skills, occupational ambitions and self-esteem."

The study is part of a larger "Youth in Transition" research effort begun in 1966, which has been investigating young men's attitudes, plans and behaviors, particularly those related to educational and occupational choices.

According to the latest survey data, college-bound high school graduates "are not strongly motivated by immediate monetary needs in the way that the job-bound are...Of greater interest to the college-bound are those aspects of self-development which are associated with advanced education and the opportunities it opens up for the individual."

Johnson and Bachman thus conclude that to attract the college-bound, the military must offer either more in the way of educational alternatives or more assistance to individuals to pursue education on their own.

An all-volunteer force concentrating entirely on the pay incentive, they believe, "might tend to attract those slightly lower in ability and aspirations than the men presently serving."

The use of an educational incentive, on the other hand, would not only have advantages for the military but "would have almost entirely positive by-products throughout the civilian society."

They propose an approach which involves both an enlarged GI bill and the use of savings from military pay, made possible by the recent pay increases in the armed services.

Under the plan, a young man could serve four years and receive up to $16,000 to cover tuition and living expenses during four years of college. Alternatively, he could (after formally enlisting) take his four years of paid education first and then serve four years of active duty.

As for the fear that an all-volunteer Army might make it easier for the nation to become involved in more "Vietnams," the authors note that as the Vietnam war went on, it became a more and more negative factor in enlistment decisions—a disincentive.

They consider it more likely that the supply of volunteers would be threatened by other military involvements resembling the one in Vietnam and cautiously suggest that "it thus seems at least a possibility that reliance on an all-volunteer force would actually tend to discourage large-scale military adventures in the future."

The DDT Arguments Again

The controversy over use of DDT is not ended by the Environmental Protection Agency's order imposing an almost total ban as of December 31. The manufacturers want the order set aside, contending that this pesticide's benefits to agriculture far outweigh any potential harm; environmentalists take the opposite tack, urging that the few exemptions still permitted under the order be eliminated. Both sides have appealed to the federal courts.

Thus the arguments, now long familiar, will be gone over again. We will hear once more, from farming and chemical interests, that DDT is quite safe if properly applied, and that it is virtually the key to abundant crops of food and fiber. Once again will be told by the environmentalists that too much risk is involved in using a chemical which retains its potency long after the initial use and finds its way into animal and eventually human food chains.

Unless convincing new arguments are brought forward by the champions of DDT, the environmentalists seem to have the best of it. For though they lack hard evidence that DDT may cause cancer or is otherwise harmful to human beings, enough data have been accumulated to raise serious questions. Prudence suggests, as EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus wrote in his order, "that man may be exposing himself to a substance that may ultimately have a serious effect on his health." With other methods of pest control becoming available, it appears to be a chance not worth taking.

Gandhi, Butto Differences Loom As Formidable

By LEON DANIEL
NEW DELHI (UPI)—When Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Pakistan President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto meet at Simla on Wednesday the differences between them will loom as formidable as the surrounding Himalayas. The most difficult problems to solve will be the Kashmir dispute and the repatriation of some 93,000 Pakistani prisoners of war, about 1,500 of whom Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman insists must be tried as war criminals. The historic summit meeting, which seeks to settle differences which have torn the two nations since their birth a quarter of a century ago, will be held at a Himalayan hill station 240 miles north of this capital city.

After India's stunning victory over Pakistan in the December war, Mrs. Gandhi has the strongest negotiating position, but Bhutto will not come to the table empty-handed.

He could, if he were so inclined, offer concessions regarding Kashmir that could relieve India for years of apprehension and permit this nation to divert some of its resources from defense toward such pressing problems as massive poverty.

Bhutto's Willingness Doubtful
But diplomatic observers here doubt if Bhutto is yet prepared to give up all claim to Kashmir. He might, however, be willing not to disturb the present cease-fire line and demilitarize the border between the two countries.

A de facto agreement defusing the explosive Kashmir issue might hold considerable appeal for Mrs. Gandhi.

It could pave the way to opening the border and restoring trade and diplomatic relations between the two nations.

It also could prepare the ground for the release of the prisoners.

India already has demonstrated its interest in a workable peace by moving quietly to suggest to Mujib that he should dilute his demands regarding war crimes trials.

If Pakistan recognizes Bangladesh—and Bhutto has indicated that it might soon—Dacca would be under some pressure to make a concession of its own, perhaps trying for a show trial of only a few Pakistani prisoners as war criminals instead of the entire 1,500.

If some basic agreements can be hammered out at Simla, it is considered certain that more talks at various levels will follow.

Few Good Cards

Bhutto will be holding few good cards when he sits down to talk.

"He can't very well walk out in a huff and go back to war," said a foreign diplomat. "Who would support him? China? The United States? Not again."

The summit meeting is expected to be over when John Connally, President Nixon's special envoy, arrives here on July 4 to talk to Mrs. Gandhi. After visiting India, Connally will go to Pakistan for a talk with Bhutto.

The former U.S. Treasury Secretary is expected to report directly to Nixon when he returns to Washington.

The Nixon administration has taken its lumps for its "tilt" in favor of the loser in the war between India and Pakistan, and no doubt would like to see significant progress toward a settlement at Simla.

In fact, there is speculation here that if such progress is achieved Connally might arrive here with the news that the United States will restore $87 million in aid to India it abruptly suspended after the war broke out.

Mrs. Gandhi, who of late has been one of the sharpest critics of American foreign policy, will not be waiting with hat in hand for Connally's arrival. But her country does need the money.

"Let George Do It!"

McGovern Key Man Is Jimmy, Age 12

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEW YORK (NEA) — His name is Jimmy Ballinson and he's just 12 years old. He happens to be working right now in Sen. George McGovern's New York state headquarters, but that's incidental. He'd be interesting wherever he was.

If you closed your eyes and simply listened to him talk as he operates at a desk, you'd be sure you were hearing a 30-year-old at work.

Jimmy, described by McGovern managers as "our 12-year-old," handles telephones, deals out local transportation information (how to get to the Bronx on a subway to do volunteer work), ferrets out airline schedule details for upstate staff travelers, operates as a kind of general office handyman.

I sat and watched him function for perhaps half an hour, and I haven't heard anyone in years — either in government, politics, business or whatever — speak with more clarity and precision and economy of words than this kid.

His efficiency and resourcefulness are fabled around the office. One day the McGovern people suddenly decided they'd better have a big American flag hanging from their Fifth Avenue quarters alongside their giant blue McGovern flag. In 15 minutes of telephoning, Jimmy had one on the way from some Manhattan supply house.

He manages his many chores with enormous confidence, yet I could detect nothing overbearing or cocksure in his manner. He is polite and always to the point.

How did it all start? Well, Jimmy Ballinson, whose father is an editor at the New York Times, read a news piece about McGovern and decided he wanted to help him. He called up on that very evening early in March. The next day, after school, he came down and went to work stuffing envelopes — typical volunteer labor. But one day not long afterward, he found himself sort of taking charge.

Says Jimmy: "It just turned out I could organize people....So pretty soon they were bringing in new volunteers and asking me: 'Could you teach these people what you're doing?'"

Jimmy's present fascination is with politics, of course. That is a serious loss to business and any other field of endeavor you can think of. He says: "In school, I did a report — I consider it a very complete report — on the 1968 campaign."

I wouldn't think of doubting its completeness. In fact, Jimmy is giving me some fantasies.

I'd like to get about a dozen key people from the telephone company — any telephone company — and have them just sit in a circle around young Mr. Ballinson's desk and watch.

I'd like to have most of the nation's highway engineers in the Jimmy orbit for a day or two, with him looking over street and road layouts and making suggestions about where to put signs to guide drivers' decisions.

I'd like his clarity of thought and utterance and his seemingly effortless efficiency of performance to be observed for a good long while by a sizable batch of the more emotional "college young," whose mindless sloganeering and boneless language ("like, man, you know") Jimmy Ballinson at 12 puts to total shame.

A few thousand like him, properly spread around, could really get this country moving again.

Ann Landers:

Pet Gave Meaning To Life

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently in your column you have said, "It's wonderful to enjoy pets; but people should remember that an animal is an animal and ought not to be confused with a human." After 11 years, we had to put Spot to sleep. It's difficult to think of him as an animal. He was such a dear friend.

Spot knew the days of the week. Every Sunday morning he'd get up and leap around because he knew the rest of the family would be over!

Spot understood certain words. If anyone said "garbage" he'd run to the door because he knew he was going to get a little walk.

He knew the word "car." The moment he heard it he'd head for the door and make it plain that he intended to go along for the ride. Spot could tell time. He retired every night at 9:30 p.m. Precisely on the dot, he'd get up and head for his room. Before leaving he'd pause briefly in the doorway and turn around to look at us with those wonderful eyes as if to say, "Goodnight."

Spot was no fancy pedigree. He was only a mutt, but he loved life and he gave our lives a great deal of meaning. I will never be sure how much dog he was and how much human. — Miss Him

Dear Miss Him: I know your letter touched millions of readers. Thank you for a real heart-warmer.

Dear Ann Landers: We are having a slight disagreement in our family. My brother who is about to become engaged is 20 years of age. His girl is 18. Several months ago Vic was arrested on a drug charge (both possession and sale). He received probation, which he is now under.

Vic has a good construction job with opportunity for advancement. He is taking college courses at night. He has also taken on an extra weekend job so he can repay our parents for the money they paid out in legal fees. His ideas have changed a great deal since he got into trouble.

Our mother believes the girl's parents should be told about Vic's past difficulties. We feel there is no need for them to know. They are very conservative people and it would upset them considerably. It could also conceivably interfere with the future plans of the couple.

Please print your answer in the paper as there are probably a lot of young people who are groping with similar problems. — Puzzled Family

Dear Family: Vic should tell his fiancée's family as soon as possible that he is on probation for possession and selling of drugs. If he withholds this information and they learn of it elsewhere he will have compounded the damage. To marry the girl without informing her family would be a serious mistake.

Dear Ann Landers: Although most of my friends have had offbeat weddings I want a traditional ceremony, a white gown, and I'm even going to promise to love, honor and obey.

My fiancé is four inches shorter than I am which doesn't bother me. But it bothers my mother. She wants Frankie to wear elevator shoes. I think it's ridiculous. Frankie is perfectly willing to wear elevator shoes to please Mom.

This has gotten to be the center of a family debate, and there's a deadlock, so YOU, Ann Landers, are going to cast the deciding vote. Yes or no? — A of Venezuela

Dear A.: The only vote that should count is Frankie's and he has already voted yes, so that settles it.

Find Ways To Bridge The Centuries

EDITOR'S NOTE: On the edge of the impenetrable southern Philippine rain forest live the Tasaday, a tiny band of people whose existence was unknown until last year. A newsman who accompanied an expedition of scientists to the Tasaday earlier this year told of it in the following story, the third of five parts.

By JOHN NANCE
TASADAY FOREST, Philippines (AP) — The Tasaday cave-dwellers who live in the rain forest and recent visitors from the space age found ways to bridge the centuries, but gaps remained.

The Tasaday—who make fire by friction and have never been outside of their southern Philippine rain forest—are intrigued, awed and puzzled by much that modern man has so far shown them. But some of it they want nothing to do with.

And for their 20th century visitors, adapting to the Tasaday's jungle brought baffling challenges—at mealtime, for example.

Roasted monkey head with brains, beetles, grubs, tadpoles, stream crabs, frogs, berries, nuts, leaves and flowers are common side dishes for the Tasaday.

They go with staples—yam-like roots, palm pith and the core of a larger tree that is made into a chewy flat cake called nata.

One visitor to the caves voted unhesitatingly in favor of the palm pith, which tasted like succulent artichoke heart. The nata was akin to munching on a gum eraser.

Manuel Elizalde Jr., the 35-year-old Harvard-educated Filipino who led the expedition, had a near brush with monkey brains.

As president of Panamin, a government-supported foundation for helping minorities, Elizalde has over the past eight years sampled a distinctive variety of jungle food, including "several items whose origins I didn't know when I ate them, and I hope I'm never told."

A Tasaday woman proudly presented him the monkey head during a visit to the caves and waited for him to dig in. Elizalde then said through an interpreter that while he loved monkey brains, of course, it was his custom to share all food with his companions, most of whom just happened to be elsewhere at that moment. He promised to deliver the brains.

But he and Charles A. Lindbergh, the American pilot who is a director of Panamin, did nibble on the sticky grubs, producing broad smiles and a loud smacking of lips.

Elizalde confided later, "It was like biting into a well-worn rubber tire. And that's giving it more credit than it deserves." "It wasn't too bad. Sort of like an oyster—a very tough oyster," was Lindbergh's assessment.

The Tasaday were similarly impressed with the visitors' foods. Rice brought the most favorable responses. Sugar was out; bread caused a screwing up of faces; cookies were spat out.

Clothing styles also were incompatible. The Tasaday's orchid leaf G-strings—with leafy skirts for the ladies—offered advantages of economy and availability.

But for the outsiders, even relatively small patches of bare skin seemed to act as a magnet for thorns, bugs, leeches and raspy vines that the Tasaday scarcely seemed to notice.

The stone-age people looked askance at heavy boots which they seemed to say, obviously prevented one from digging in with his toes when on slippery turf or a steep ledge.

The Tasaday's hands, soles and knees were like tough leather from the exposure to the elements. One complained, however, that he was having trouble keeping his balance on tough trails because his toenails were too short.

The Tasaday huddled together around fires in their caves when it was cool. If it was chilly, some rubbed warm ashes on themselves.

During the first heavy rain the visitors frantically rearranged their tenting to close dripping holes and dug drainage ditches. Three Tasaday men squatted and watched. One mentioned, with the hint of a smirk, that the Tasaday's caves never leaked.

The Tasaday found flashlights intriguing. Although they knew their immediate area intimately, the Tasaday were delighted to be able to light up the night. To these cave-dwellers, the only trouble with the flashlight was that no matter how hard they blew on the glowing bulb it wouldn't start a fire.

The last laugh belonged to the cave people. Balayam, a bright young man apparently in his 20s, proved to be an excellent mimic.

He unveiled his repertoire one afternoon.

Forefingers and thumbs in twin circles placed against the eyes while bending into contortions depicted one photographer, complete with a "zit" utterance to indicate the click of the shutter.

Another photographer using a long lens became two fists, one in front of the other, extended from the forehead with an accompanying "gazeek" noise to account for a different shutter sound.

A leaf for a pad, stick for a pencil and stiffly upright posture with peering eyes characterized an anthropologist.

A pipe smoker was caricatured by Balayam with a bent branch clenched between his teeth. He removed it with studied nonchalance and blew out smoke—depicted by a fluttering of fingers away from his mouth.

The kicker came with a portrayal of the expedition's physician with his little black bag. Entering the cave meant clambering up a slippery patch of rocks for the doctor.

Balayam-the-doctor stumbled, pratfalled backward—losing an imaginary hat—and sprawled crestfallen down the mountain-side. He gamely returned, stumbled again and finally heaved himself into the mouth of the cave, breathless and goggle-eyed.

Eye Movements Reveal Today's Crossword Puzzle Subject Is Dreaming

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — So you think you had a calm, dreamless night last night? Bet you didn't.

Many researchers these days are pasting wires on people's skulls. Then they command the wired-up guinea pigs to sleep. It seems that people's eyeballs have a jolly old time twirling while their owners are sleeping.

The wires are connected to machines which record these eyeball revolutions, and it has been determined that the movements reveal that the subject is dreaming.

All this and a lot more is told in a booklet issued by the Health, Education and Welfare Department called "Current Research on Sleep and Dreams."

Dreams always have fascinated and sometimes frightened humans. Bible students can recall several instances where kings and nations fell because of dreams—rather, because people took certain actions because of dreams.

Today's dream experts, the scientists, don't pretend to tell anyone, as the oldtimers did, which king is going to get a knife between the ribs next or when the next drought will come.

They do hope they are making progress in determining whether dreams reveal some obscure disease, body malfunctions or mental upset which can't be diagnosed otherwise.

Each person dreams about the same number of times as another—from 20 to 25 per cent of his sleeping time.

The reason some say they don't dream is that the whole episode is blotted from the mind within minutes.

The researchers have discovered that if they awaken the sleeper just after his eyeballs stop rolling, he or she can relate the dream.

What happens when you don't dream?

The scientists began to deprive cats of their nighttime visions by awakening them the instant the electrodes showed they were about to dream.

This resulted in making a large number of cats very cross. Some, after several periods of dreamless sleep, went into panic.

So the experiments progressed to man.

Several volunteers were deprived of dreams for six successive nights and it really tore them up.

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

For All Candidates

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—State and local candidates and political officeholders have only until the end of this week to file economic disclosure statements as a result of the Supreme Court decision upholding the state's new ethics law.

What's more, they're going to have to figure out how to do it themselves.

The deadline set in the law for initial filing is July 1.

Many state candidates already had filed before the Illinois Supreme Court ruled Friday that the law is valid, overturning a lower court decision. But state officials wondered whether many local candidates had done so.

Besides state candidates and officials, the law covers elected members of local government and school boards and candidates for them; persons appointed to the governing board of a school district or a special district and any member of a zoning board, zoning board of appeals or regional, county or municipal plan commission.

It also covers employees of local governments and school boards who are paid $20,000 or more a year.

Every such official or candidate is required to file a public statement covering his and his spouse's financial interests which could conflict with official duties. Local candidates or officeholders are required to file with the clerk of the county in which they live; state officials and candidates with the secretary of state.

When the law was drafted last fall, legislators expressed fears that first-time candidates, especially at the local level, might have difficulty fathoming its requirements.

Accordingly, they empowered the secretary of state to respond to questions with written, certified opinions. By doing so, the lawmakers felt, they could remove some possibility of a candidate being fined or imprisoned for violating the law because of ignorance.

The court, however, ruled that provision unconstitutional, leaving officeholders and candidates on their own to interpret the law's requirements.

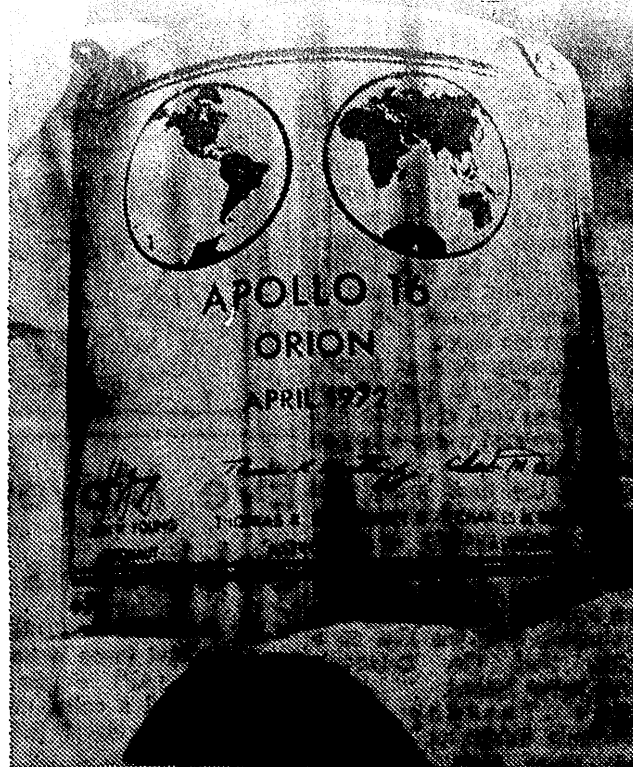

Bomb On Board

SAIGON (AP) — Informed sources say a bomb on board probably caused the crash in the central highlands of the Cathay Pacific Airways jetliner in which 81 persons died. Investigators are now checking the insurance policies of the passengers, who included 16 Americans.

The informants said all other possibilities have been virtually eliminated, and collision, weather and any type of military activity have been ruled out completely.

The four-engine Conqair was on a flight from Singapore and Bangkok to Hong Kong when it crashed about 200 miles north-east of Saigon, killing the 71 passengers and 10 crew members.

They said the investigators are advancing two reasons for the bomb theory. One is that the Conqair's airframe is regarded as one of the strongest ever built, and there is no record of one ever experiencing a failure in flight. The other is that there was no inclination of trouble between the pilot's last radio message and the crash three minutes later.

LEFT ON THE MOON, stainless steel plaque bears the signatures of Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke. Attached to a leg of the Lunar Landing Module, it remains on the surface of the Descartes highlands as a permanent marker of the fifth manned landing on the moon.

Authorize Fire Station Site
The council gave unanimous consent to purchase five large lots amounting to about 1.41 acres at the northwest corner of W. Lafayette and Grand Avenue from the State of Illinois Department of Children and Family Services at a cost of $11,483.

The site will be developed into a fire department sub-station to better serve the west side of the city and may result in a reduction in fire insurance rates.

Fire Chief Dale Bond and other members of the council have had the project in the planning stages for several months.

New Beer License

The council authorized issuance of an additional license to sell beer for Eagle Discount Store under construction on West Morton Road. Four negative votes were cast by: Quinn, Bourn, Davis and DeFrates.

The move was prompted by a series of letters from the food chain asking for a license to sell liquor. The council turned down by failing to act on an earlier request for a full package line license. The action Monday night includes the sale of beer only, similar to all other large supermarkets.

New water meters scheduled for installation in homes will have an outside reading dial. The added cost to the homeowner will be about $15.40 per installation but will save having a meter reader track into the house once a month. The ordinance passed first reading. Alderman Kenneth Kolberer said the outside dials for water meters are available to any resident at a cost of $15.40 by calling the water department in city hall.

The council authorized the refund of $983.96 to the owner of the Holiday Inn for prepaid fire protection prior to being annexed into the city limits. Out-of-city fire protection contracts are handled on a paid-in-advance basis and when the Holiday Inn was brought into the city, the contract was no longer needed.

Bids will be accepted July 3 for resurfacing of South Mauvaisterre, South Sandy and North Fayette at the city clerk's office. Alderman Jimmie Fernandes said he expected to appropriate no new funds for the job.

The council approved a move to direct the city attorney to draft an ordinance closing Hackett Avenue at the Burlington and Northern Railroad. Fernandes said it was a safety move and affected only five houses which were served by other routes. He said he also discussed it with the police and fire chiefs.

The Jacksonville Bass Club received permission to conduct a safe-boating demonstration in central park Saturday, July 1, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The council approved investment of $100,000 in motor fuel tax funds in treasury bills due Dec. 16, 1972.

Four resolutions extending the time for consultants to complete their contracts under urban renewal received council approval. The appraisals, purchases of land, and other considerations were necessary because of re-designed approaches at the north and south ends of the traffic pattern in order to win approval for spending motor fuel tax funds by the state.

Two other resolutions transferred $50,000 each to Elliott and First National banks from Farmers Bank. The accounts will be checking accounts and not investments. An additional $100,000 was re-invested for the urban renewal department.

Votsmier scolded the water committee for not having a rate increase ordinance ready for presentation. He said because of the summer schedule it would be August before it can be collected, a loss of eight months in which every one has been the red.

Alderman Evans said the fire department had used 62,000 gallons of water to fight fires this year.

WALLACE HAS SOME FEELING IN HIS THIGHS
SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace is showing additional encouraging signs of recovery, his doctors report. He now has some feeling in his thighs.

The Alabama governor has been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot in an assassination attempt on May 15.

Following an operation last Sunday to remove a bullet from his spine, doctors predicted Wallace would be able to move about with the aid of leg braces and crutches within six months.

But Sunday's medical bulletin said the governor has shown "definite evidence of some neurological recovery. He has sensation now in the thighs that was not present one week ago.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The new president of the National Education Association says the only way to meet the educational needs of all children is with "raw political power."

Mrs. Catharine Barrett, a Syracuse, N.Y., inner city elementary teacher for more than 40 years, takes over leadership of the 1.2 million-teacher organization Friday at the conclusion of the NEA's 110th annual meeting.

In an interview, Mrs. Barrett said her two top priorities will be to "make teachers recognize political force" and to "achieve legislation which by 1976 will see the federal government contributing one-third the cost of education."

With teachers already organized politically in 42 states, Mrs. Barrett said she is hopeful that they will have an impact on presidential balloting and congressional elections in November.

For the past year, as president-elect of the NEA, Mrs. Barrett has spent much of her time touring the United States advising teacher groups on how to organize politically.

WALLACE HAS SOME FEELING IN HIS THIGHS

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace is showing additional encouraging signs of recovery, his doctors report. He now has some feeling in his thighs.

The Alabama governor has been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot in an assassination attempt on May 15.

Following an operation last Sunday to remove a bullet from his spine, doctors predicted Wallace would be able to move about with the aid of leg braces and crutches within six months.

But Sunday's medical bulletin said the governor has shown "definite evidence of some neurological recovery. He has sensation now in the thighs that was not present one week ago.

here are her answers to specific questions: Q. Can teacher groups or yourself support President Nixon in the November election?

A. "Mr. Nixon is very negative as far as education is concerned — whether it be a budget proposition, whether in vetoing a proposal, whether in failure to support funds for education and whether to support busing. He would take society back to an era we got rid of years ago. There is nothing in the Nixon administration to indicate his support of education or that he's prepared to take action to give every youngster an equitable opportunity."

Q. Have teachers become more politically active? Do you think they can be united at the polls on the local and national levels?

A. "Teachers in 42 states have organized teacher political action committees. In New York State, teachers are organized in all key legislative districts and are now endorsing candidates after intensive study. They also are organizing in congressional districts and will issue report cards on candidates' educational voting records so that teachers are able to make a complete judgment. Whether the NEA will endorse a presidential candidate will depend on the membership. It is more than possible that we will."

Q. What will be your top priority this coming year?

A. "I have two priorities and they are side by side. I want to make teachers recognize political force and to achieve legislation which by 1976 will see the federal government contributing at least one-third the cost of education. The highest it's ever been was 8.8 per cent and this past year was only 7.1 per cent."

COURT-ORDERED UMW ELECTION

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The court-ordered rerun of the United Mine Workers 1969 election will be held Dec. 1 through Dec. 8, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said in Monday's editions.

Quoting "reliable sources," the paper said a decision on the date was reached at a meeting in Washington attended by representatives from the U. S. Labor Department, the UMW and the union's dissident Miners for Democracy faction.

Balloting, to be supervised by the Labor Department, will be held in groups of the union's 24 districts at different times, the paper reported.

First balloting is reportedly set for the western part of the United States, with Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio members-making up more than half of the union's rolls-voting in the latter part of the week.

To secure a spot on the ballot, each candidate must be nominated or endorsed by 50 of the union's 1,200 locals. Candidates will seek nominations, the Post-Gazette said, between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

The election rerun was ordered by U. S. District Court in Washington, D. C., after a Labor Department suit charging widespread irregularities in the Dec. 9, 1969 contest.

Incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle won that election by a wide margin over insurgent leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, who was slain along with his wife and daughter three weeks later.

Yablonski's supporters, who formed the Miners for Democracy, have already selected a slate of officers for the contest, headed by presidential hopeful Arnold R. Miller of West Virginia.

Boyle, who is awaiting sentencing on a federal conviction of misusing union funds, has not said whether he'll seek reelection.

Another announced candidate is Steve "Cadillac" Kochis of southwestern Pennsylvania.

The Post-Gazette said no provisions were made at the Washington meeting for holding eight district elections which also have been ordered by U. S. District Courts.

The orders for the district elections are the result of suits by dissident miners claiming that union trusteeships—the system by which district officials are appointed by the union leadership rather than elected—is a violation of the Landrum-Griffin Act, which regulates union activities.

FIREMEN CALLED SUNDAY EVENING

Jacksonville firemen were called about 6:30 p.m. Sunday to extinguish a grass fire north of West Oak street at the former site of the city dump.

Pressurized water cans were used to quickly douse the fire, with no reportable damage.

Cause of the fire was not stated.

Your family's silent partner

Lying there on the doorstep, it can't speak. Or Move. Or Hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form.

It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the bloodiest streets of warring countries. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, It tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or sold. It's where hints on health, cooking, religion, amusements, dressmaking, etiquette, marriage are found.

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newlyweds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.

It's your newspaper, silent partner of the family, yet one that says so much, does so much for so many people — every day without fail.

Metcalf Calls Police Hearings 'Very Shocking'

CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. Ralph H. Metcalf, D-Ill., labeled "very shocking" the testimony given Monday at a public hearing he ordered to investigate charges of brutality in the black community by Chicago police.

Metcalf, a former top aide to Mayor Richard J. Daley, has split with the mayor over the issue of police conduct which Daley has supported.

Several persons appeared at Monday's hearing before Metcalf and a panel of 20 black, Latin American and religious leaders appointed by the congressman.

The witnesses alleged they were threatened, beaten, robbed and intimidated by the policemen.

More than 150 persons, most of them black, packed the Federal Building courtroom where the hearing was conducted.

Mildred Isom, a mother of four, testified that she was manacled and dragged to a basement where police were investigating a robbery.

She said she was looking out a window when a policeman rapped at her door and asked if she knew anything. She testified that she told him she knew nothing and that he called her "an ADC (aid to dependent children) slut."

She said she threatened to report him to a superior and he dragged her across the street where a police captain ordered her handcuffed and taken in a wagon to a nearby station. She said she was later released, was not charged and never filed a complaint.

Richard Leftridge, a self-employed businessman, said he lost an eye after a policeman struck him with a blackjack and pushed him through a glass door.

Leftridge said he was visiting a woman when six policemen called by the women's landlord barged in the room. Leftridge said a name-calling battle began and a policeman struck the woman.

He said that when he verbally objected, he was beaten, handcuffed, pushed through a glass door, arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, assault and interfering with policemen.

Asked if he filed a complaint, Leftridge said, "I didn't think it would do any good."

Metcalf said at the conclusion of the hearing, "We've heard some very shocking testimony today. I'm now further convinced of the absolute necessity of these hearings and will continue them as long as necessary."

He said he planned to return to Washington and "appraise my colleagues of the progress and content of these hearings."

DAVID FRANK AT INDIANA WORKSHOP

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. — A Jacksonville student is among 59 outstanding high school seniors who are participating in a three and a half week "look at college life" being held on the campus of Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology at Terre Haute. David A. Frank, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Frank, 236 Park street, Jacksonville, is attending the sixth in-residence workshop which provides the participants the opportunity of investigating problems of engineering and science not normally undertaken at high school level.

The program, which began June 12, will run through July 6. A limited number of openings remain open for another group of students scheduled to be on campus for the second session July 9 through August 3.

Ends 25 Year Career

By HELEN HINDE

Mrs. Gertrude O. Hohmann has resigned as director of nursing education for the Passavant Hospital Association, effective July 8.

Since she joined the staff in 1949, enrollment in the School of Nursing has grown from 13 to a yearly average of around 90. It was accredited by the National League for Nursing for the first time in 1952, and its program has since been reviewed and its accreditation renewed by the NLN five times.

"Accreditation means that our school has attained a measure of excellence over and above that required by the State of Illinois for certification," Mrs. Hohmann said.

"Many factors have enabled us to grow and to improve the quality of instruction. We have an able and dedicated faculty, an excellent building completed in 1960, and a fine environment for training professional nurses."

What makes a "Quality environment?" Mrs. Hohmann believes that students trained in a good hospital, in a community where a high quality of medical and nursing practice is maintained, are apt to be good nurses. The Jacksonville community, she said, is fortunate in having an excellent hospital and medical staff.

Other groups which have helped to strengthen the school are the hospital board of trustees, which always has been most supportive of nursing education, she said, and the Aid Society. Members of the Aid through the years have assisted with student recreation, dormitory furnishings, special events, scholarships, and the development of the library.

"One other vital factor necessary to a good school," Mrs. Hohmann added, "is good students. We only accept students with the ability and motivation to succeed in our program, and we are very proud of them." William R. Mitchell, hospital administrator, said Mrs. Hohmann's resignation was accepted with regret.

"While Passavant students always have done well in state board examinations, they now score consistently in the upper 15-20 per cent of graduates from all nursing schools in the state. Much of the credit for the progress made here belongs to Mrs. Hohmann."

Mrs. Hohmann, a graduate of the Kähler Hospitals School of Nursing in Rochester, Minn., holds a B.A. degree from MacMurray College and has done graduate work in nursing at Washington University. She has been active in the American Nurses Association and the National League for Nursing.

Locally, she has served on the citizens advisory council for School District 117, the junior college feasibility study group, and the Bi-State Regional Medical Program organization, on the medical information committee.

Mrs. Hohmann, whose husband, E. P. Hohmann, is a local real estate and insurance broker, will not be professionally employed after leaving Passavant.

Jim: "How about showing some really unusual plays this week?"

Oswald: "I bet you have one in mind."

Jim: "That I do. It is sometimes called the Coon coup because it was played by Charles Coon of Boston a few years ago."

South won the first trick with his ace of hearts; drew trumps with one lead; cashed dummy's ace of diamonds; ruffed dummy's last diamond and played a heart. Charley took his two heart tricks and led the jack of clubs!

Oswald: "The only play to give the defense a chance and one that could not possibly hurt him."

Jim: "No. It couldn't. Charley had a perfect count of the distribution. He saw that if East held the club queen any club play would beat the contract. If South held the queen and 10 there was no hope for the defense while if South held the queen and East the 10 the jack play would give declarer a chance to go wrong."

Oswald: "I take it South did go wrong?"

Jim: "He sure did. It never occurred to him that Charley held the ace. His whole problem was where the 10 could be found and he decided to play Charley for it. He let the club ride to his queen. Charley ducked the club and return as a matter of course and East made his 10."

TUESDAY, JUNE 27 — Born today, you are inclined to daydream a considerable portion of your time away. Nor is this the drawback it might appear to be to those who merely know the fact but not the consequences of it. For from your daydreams come more than the usual visions of personal glory; from them come ideas and feasible plans for future projects and enterprises in which you ultimately become involved. Such results are not the exception; they are the rule. And, as such, they counter any objections daydreaming may call up.

Although you are ambitious, you are not steadily so. Rather, your ambition seems to fluctuate with your mood—so much so, in fact, that it is quite possible for those who know you well to gauge the degree of your interest in your work and the energy with which you are pursuing your goal simply by noting whether your mood is one of elation or depression or something in-between. Enthusiasm and competition go hand in hand with you, however; the more there is of the latter, the more you have of the former.

You seldom have any real difficulty accomplishing the goals you set for yourself. You may take longer than many to get where you're going, since you often are distracted through temporary disinterest, but you have little trouble moving from phase to phase of a given enterprise during those times when your interest and energy are peaked.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Competition may be keener than you anticipated this morning. Another's ability to work in close quarters may cramp your style.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Much hard work is attached to the success available to you today. Don't be afraid to plunge right in, even if much of it is new to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Let a partner do some of the dirty work. There is no reason why you should take it upon yourself to carry the major portion of the responsibility.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Make a genuine effort to keep pace with those who usually move ahead of you in competition. Your performance may surprise all of you.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Should you find your efforts not to your liking today, it may be time to slow down and turn to something else. Return to work refreshed at another time.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Though things usually come to you fairly easily, you may have difficulty today in fitting your mood to the labor required for making gains.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Share a confidence with one who has shown himself willing to listen and willing to keep what he hears to himself. Accept a shoulder to lean on.

Your Husband—Clothe Him for Success.

Closely hinged as the while family is to your husband's progress, it behooves you to take special pains to see that he is not just dressed well, but that he is always dressed appropriately for the various activities that make up your life together and separately. Some wives devote great attention to what their husbands are going to wear to a party, but fail completely to show any interest in what their breadwinner wears to business. If you want not just better but caviar on your bread, you'd better open your eyes to the fact that while clothes don't make the man, they do play an important part in boosting him up the ladder of success to recognition, respect and a higher income bracket.

Statistics prove that about eighty-five percent of all men's clothing purchased in the United States is either bought by or influenced by women. Whether or not you go out and buy your husband's shirts, socks, neckties, underwear and pajamas, your influence can make a big difference in how he looks. The man who looks good makes good faster than the man who is carelessly put together, badly pressed or poorly coordinated. In working out your campaign to improve your husband's appearance, use tact. Telling him he has bad taste, looks sloppy or that he dresses like a yokel will get you nowhere. Emphasizing his good points and suggesting ways he can capitalize on them will expand his ego. Telling him that a continental slimline makes him look taller is a lot better than saying he looks like a walking anvil in the one he's wearing. Mentioning the fact that a lower-cut shirt collar is very flattering to him will make him love you far more than telling him he has a fat neck. Your shirt laundering will please him.

When you have selected the right clothes for that man of yours bring them to HOWARD'S, 121 S. EAST ST. for that special attention we will give them. We are professional in preserving your clothes and giving them that just fresh look. Phone 245-2215 so we can pick up and deliver your clothes to you on time.

50,000 Drivers Fail

Last year alone, over 50,000 Illinois licensed drivers failed the state written examination. This year the number of drivers that will fail could jump to a hundred thousand or more. Experts say—"One reason is, that rules and regulations change, and even some good safe drivers just don't keep up with the new laws." If your license expires this year, you may be among the hundreds of thousands that will be reexamined in 1972. So if you're nervous about taking the state written exam, here's good news. You can now purchase your own "self-scoring" test papers, complete with questions, answers and road signs you should know for that important examination day. YEAR-ROUND DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME PROPOSED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., proposed Monday that daylight saving time be used all year.

Currently daylight saving time is observed only between April and October. Legislation is pending in both chambers to cut back the period to Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Rostenkowski said his bill, introduced today, would be of special benefit to urban dwellers.

He noted that serious crimes such as rape, aggravated assault, robbery and murder most often occur during early evening hours.

"The additional hour of daylight provided by this bill would insure greater safety for commuters who go home in the dark during winter months," he said.

The Chicago congressman said it would be "a major step toward eliminating crime on the streets."

He said it also would facilitate the evening rush-hour traffic during winter months when drivers must contend with often hazardous conditions.

SUBMIT LOW BIDS FOR MATERIALS

Bid openings for road construction materials were held in the office of the board of county commissioners Monday morning to be used in Road District 7.

The low bids were submitted by Missouri Gravel Co. at a bid of $3.05 per ton for gravel, estimated to cost about $8,192.30; and Illinois Road Contractors, Inc., for oil at 17 1/2 cents per gallon, estimated to cost about $514.50.

Several other bids for the same materials were also received.

The bids will be evaluated and awarded by the Superintendent of Highways Jack Stovall.

Pressure Makes The Difference

What Causes Ear Blockages?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — What causes the blocking of the ear such as what occurs when descending from altitude? In my case, this occurs several times a day. It is very irritating when talking because I suddenly feel I am talking too loudly or unclearly, then I find myself concentrating on this rather than on what I am saying.

I have gone to two doctors and they told me this was likely to ear infections I had as a child. One stated that I may eventually need an operation and the other gave me pills which didn't help any. I have had this problem approximately seven years, but the blocking seems to be happening more regularly as time progresses. What do you think I should do?

Dear Reader— You should make arrangements to see an ear, nose and throat specialist. Your family doctor can refer you to one or you can obtain the names of specialists for this problem with a telephone call to the nearby county medical society. You may also write to your state medical association to ask for the name and locations of ear doctors who are closest to your home.

The ear is affected by changes in altitude because of the difference in pressure across the eardrum between the external ear and middle ear chamber. The external ear is the ear at the side of the head, plus the canal that funnels sound into the ear. The canal itself is really a blind tube closed with the white, glistening membrane of the eardrum.

The middle ear is the next compartment. Inside the eardrum is a great hollow chamber, the middle ear. At the bottom of this hollow chamber is a tube that passes downward and opens in the back of the throat (eustachian tube). Through this tube the middle ear chamber communicates with air in the mouth. When air pressure builds up in the middle chamber, air is forced out the tube and into the mouth. If the pressure in the chamber falls, air is sucked up into the chamber through this same tube. This way, the pressure can be changed in the middle ear chamber.

When you go to altitude, the thin air creates less pressure at the external ear, the air in the hollow middle ear is under greater pressure and can push your eardrums out. The ear is protected against this by leaking air from the middle ear chamber through the tube to the mouth.

When descending from altitude, as the air pressure increases, the external pressure against the eardrums pushes inward. Too much pushing in and out of the eardrum causes irritation called barotrauma.

Overgrowth of tissue in the throat near the tube opening may make it impossible for air to pass freely in and out of the middle ear chamber. Sometimes surgical removal or the overgrown tissue is needed.

I doubt your problem is barotrauma, since it occurs several times surgical removal or the altitude. More likely it is related to ear damage that amplifies some sounds but not others. This occurs most often with increasing age.

Your ears are exceptionally important, and anyone who is having a hearing problem certainly deserves a careful examination by a specialist.

Know-How Needed For Washing Nylon Curtains

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

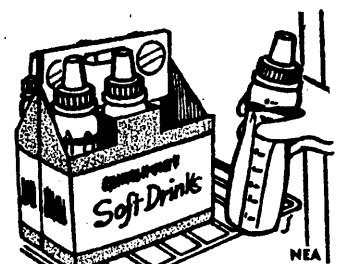

DEAR POLLY—I have made many creelwork pictures and pillows, so consequently have a lot of leftover yarn and I would like some suggestions as to how this might be used.—MRS. H.L.F.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with greeting cards with a glossy or wax finish that are impossible to write on either with a ballpoint or a regular pen. Manufacturers, please note.—MRS. F.G.

DEAR POLLY—Emma, who has wrinkles in her nylon curtains, should never wring them when she washes the curtains. When washed, add a little starch to the rinse water, put the curtains in a basket, carry out-of-doors and hang on the line while dripping wet. A windy day is best, as the wind should blow out any wrinkles. As the wrinkles are already in Emma's curtains, it may take two or three soakings to remove them.—ROSE

DEAR POLLY—My nylon marquisette curtains used to be a mess after washing, but now I sprinkle them and put waxed paper between the iron and the curtains and they look beautiful after ironing. I also use waxed paper to iron net. Hope this helps Emma.—MRS. J.C.B.

DEAR GIRLS—If long nylon curtains are hard to lift up and down so as not to get any wrinkles as they are being washed, try folding lengthwise and then over and over to make a square or rectangle and rub soapy water into them with the hands, being sure to keep turning so they get clean all the way through. Rinse the same way. NEVER squeeze or wring so wrinkles form during laundering. After they drip-dry, if the hems do not look as nice as you would like, push the ironing board up against the window and press hems with curtains still hanging.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—A six-pack pop bottle carton comes in handy for storing baby's bottles in the refrigerator. They are easy to pick up if something in the back is needed and also this keeps six bottles from tipping over in every direction.

After Rain Of U.S. Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces under a U.S. umbrella of B-52 bombers fought off a North Vietnamese attack on the northern front Monday and found piles of enemy bodies killed in saturation air strikes around Hue.

Frontline positions on the My Chanh River 25 miles north of Hue, took more than 1,000 rounds of North Vietnamese shellfire while paratroopers bore the brunt of the fighting in the foothills to the west.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported that North Vietnamese forces followed up one 430-round barrage with a ground attack against an airborne position southwest of My Chanh.

The paratroopers repelled the attack, killing 35 enemy at a cost of one government soldier killed and 29 wounded, Putzel reported.

About 100 B-52 bombers ranged over South Vietnam's two northern provinces for the fourth successive day, dropping 2,500 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese positions around enemy-held Quang Tri and in the foothills and mountains west of My Chanh and Hue.

Action on the other two fronts in the enemy's three-month-old offensive—the central highlands and Highway 13 north of Saigon—was largely limited to small clashes and heavy shellfiring.

The air war over North Vietnam continued. The U.S. Command claimed destruction of the Viet Tri thermal power plant 25 miles northwest of Hanoi and damage to many other targets stretching all the way south to Vinh. Vinh is about 160 miles south of the North Vietnamese capital.

Spokenmen said 2,000-pound laser-guided bombs dropped by F-4 Phantom jets destroyed the plant's "capability to produce electrical power for the nearby industrial complex."

Navy pilots flying off carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin reported seeing massive fires and widespread destruction after attacks on bridges, trucks parks, railroad sidings and ammunition depots in the north.

Radio Hanoi claimed six U.S. jets were shot down during the weekend but the U.S. Command said it had no plane losses to report. Command policy is to withhold announcement of downed aircraft until search and rescue missions have ended.

U.N. Council Condemns Israel For Attacks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council condemned Israel Monday night for last week's attacks on Lebanon while "profoundly deploring all acts of violence" in the area.

The vote on the compromise resolution, sponsored by Britain, France and Belgium, was 13-0, with the United States and Panama abstaining.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush said the resolution did not meet the criteria of fairness and balance he had set forth Saturday and for this reason the United States was obliged to abstain.

Monday night's meeting was called by the council president, Ambassador Lazar Mojsov of Yugoslavia, after a scheduled morning session had been canceled to allow more time for negotiations.

The compromise plan expressed a desire that appropriate steps would lead in the shortest possible time to the "release of all Syrian and Lebanese military and security personnel abducted by Israeli armed forces" during the June 21 incursion into Lebanon.

It also declared that if the Syrian and Lebanese personnel are not released or if Israel fails to comply with other provisions of the resolution "the council will reconvene to consider further action."

Other proposals had been drafted by the United States, the Soviet Union and by Asian-African delegations, but each was said to represent points of view unacceptable to some of the big powers.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush told the council Saturday night that the United States would accept no resolution that lacked balance and fairness—meaning that it must contain a reference to Arab terrorist activities as well as the Israel attacks on Lebanon.

For Flood-Stricken

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — The Midwest Governors Conference asked the federal government Monday to do more for private individuals whose lives and homes have been shattered by flood disasters.

But the governors were less than specific on what ought to be done, suggesting only that red tape be slashed and interest-free loans be considered among the possibilities.

Gov. J. James Exon of Nebraska voted for the resolution but said concern of "human needs" ought to be separated from concern over business damage.

Exon wanted the governors to be specific, perhaps suggesting some form of federal flood insurance that could be purchased both by homeowners and businesses.

"We're taking the big brother approach as far as the federal government is concerned—we're asking them to come in and bail us out," said Exon, a Democrat.

The resolution asks both Congress and the administration to "take immediate action" to assist private citizens.

It was sponsored by Gov. Richard Kneip of South Dakota, one of the states devastated by the ravaging series of floods across the nation recently. Kneip will present the resolution Tuesday to a subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee, meeting in Rapid City, S.D.

Kneip said he had been urged by Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania to push the resolution through the Midwest Conference. Shapp is among eastern governors also pushing for expanded federal assistance in the wake of floods.

Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri also voted for the resolution but said the governors ought to aim some specific ideas at Congress.

The governors turned to social events Monday afternoon after their opening business session. The agenda included a visit with band leader Lawrence Welk, some golf and an evening barbecue. The conference runs through Wednesday.

Three governors warned that states must press forward to develop new energy sources that will meet both demands for electrical power and criticism from environmentalists.

Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas said his state is "winning a major battle" with the Atomic Energy Commission over disposal of nuclear wastes from power plants.

Docking said the AEC had proposed dumping nuclear wastes into abandoned salt mines but had done little research on the potential effects. Docking said research now is being done by the AEC.

Docking said he disagrees both with "doomsday environmentalists" who forecast crisis unless electrical use is curtailed, and those who claim that technology can solve the problem.

"The future of our nation and mankind depends upon a realistic path somewhere between those two extremes," Docking said.

CRASH BLAMED ON FLYING AT UNSAFE ALTITUDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal report says the pilot of a Chicago & Southern Airlines plane apparently knew he was flying at an unsafe altitude when the plane crashed near Peoria last October killing all 16 persons aboard.

The report, released Sunday by the National Transportation Safety Board, said there was no evidence of structural or mechanical failure of the plane or its engines.

It said Frank D. Hansen, 39, the pilot and president of the airlines, was determined to land at the Greater Peoria Airport in spite of adverse weather, apparently to avoid paying transportation costs of three passengers from an alternate airport back to Peoria.

Hansen's modified Beech E-18S had been cleared for landing when it struck the lowest of four pairs of power cables, 65 feet above the ground, and crashed.

The report said Hansen had been penalized previously for violations of federal flying regulations. Among these violations, the report said, were: flying an airplane over the allowable maximum weight, serving as pilot without a valid medical certificate in his possession and failing to have on his plane the required aircraft registration certificate, flight manual or company air taxi manual.

Three violations, for which penalties were assessed, occurred 16 months before the accident, the report said.

"The company continued violations of the crew flight time limitations and evidence of this was hidden deliberately from the Federal Aviation Administration operational officials," the board said.

Former Morgan Man To Minister At Arenzville

ARENZVILLE — On July 1st, the Reverend Robert R. Wegeholt, a former resident of Morgan county, will assume his duties as pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church at Arenzville. Pastor Wegeholt is presently serving the Good Shepherd Lutheran church of Romeville near Joliet. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wegeholt of Concord.

Robert R. Wegeholt

A graduate of Chapin High School and MacMurray College, he received his master's degree in sacred music from Union Theological Seminary, School of Sacred Music in New York City. He served as organist and choir director at St. Luke's Lutheran church, Farmingdale, Long Island, and later at Faith Lutheran church in Moline while a divinity student at Lutheran School of Theology, Rock Island campus.

Following his ordination in 1966, he served as assistant pastor at Faith Lutheran in Moline preceding the Romeville pastorate.

Pastor Wegeholt is married to the former Irene Finger of Farmingdale, Long Island, New York. They are the parents of three children, Debra, Lisa and John. Mrs. Wegeholt is also a pipe organist and choir director with experience as a teacher of music and elementary grades.

Members and friends of St. Peter's church are cordially invited.

Pullout

(Continued From Page One) work provisions as a condition of welfare aid. The rebellion against the welfare bill was sparked by the National Welfare Rights Organization, made up mostly of black mothers, with McGovern backing. The NWRO wants federal payments of $6,500 a year for a family of four.

The delegates voted down the $6,500 provisions but concurred in opposing the bill. Unless the welfare and Social Security provisions of that bill are separated, the platform policy if adopted in Congress, would endanger Social Security benefit increases already approved by the House and pending in the Senate.

An attempt to sharpen the drafters' tax-reform proposals—which merely endorse the Mills-Mansfield bill for a three-year overhaul of all tax preferences—went down to defeat. The proposed drastic substitute called for killing the present income tax, enacting a sharply graduated tax on gross income with $1,200 tax credit per dependent, eliminating all tax loopholes and subsidies, and providing steeper tax rates on big corporations.

That proposal died, but soaked the corporations sentiment was strong.

The platform committee has until midnight Tuesday to turn out a finished draft, for the Democratic party's convention reforms require that copies of the platform be printed and mailed to all convention delegates not later than 10 days before the convention opens.

Quarry Brothers Rate Underdogs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Punctuated by a shouting match between Muhammad Ali and Jerry Quarry, the two heavyweights—along with light heavyweight champion Bob Foster and his undefeated challenger Mike Quarry—easily passed physical examinations Monday for their Tuesday night fights.

Ali took the stage at the Blue Room of the Tropicana Hotel and declared: "This is the Soul Brothers against the Quarry Brothers, the last of the great white hopes. I don't know what Foster will do to his hope, but I'm going to whip my hope."

Foster, 33, a sheriff's deputy from Albuquerque, N.M., declared much more quietly: "I'm going to whip my man quicker than you'll whip yours."

Foster was quoted as 6-1 favorite to retain his title and Ali was listed at 4-1 to beat Jerry Quarry.

Quarry, 27, stopped by Ali on an eye cut in the third round at Atlanta in 1970, said, "You keep shooting your mouth off. You won't win fights that way."

Mike Quarry, 21, was the quietest of the four but he continued to express unhappiness over the brand choice of the eight-ounce gloves to be worn by the boxers. Over objections from the Quarry camp, the state commission made the choice last week.

Although there was a scale on stage, only Jerry stepped on it. Wearing trousers and street shoes, he weighed 208 pounds. Ali expects to weigh 215.

"I'm not only going to destroy Jerry Quarry. I'm going to destroy Joe Frazier," said Ali, who hopes for a return bout against the heavyweight champion. "I'm still the king of the world."

A crowd of 7,500 is expected at the Convention Center and there will international closed circuit television. The Foster-Mike Quarry bout is slated to start at 9:30 p.m. EDT. It will be followed by brother Jerry against Ali.

The 175-pound title fight is slated for 15 rounds, the heavyweight bout for 12.

The card appeared certain to better the Nevada gate record of $292,000 drawn by Sugar Ray Robinson and Gene Fullmer in their 1961 middleweight championship bout.

Ali has been guaranteed $500,000, Jerry Quarry $200,000, Foster $80,000 and Mike Quarry $45,000. The pay for the Quarry was boosted from the original $175,000 and $35,000 when they agreed to take their cut solely from the television money.

Ali's record is 36-1, with 27 knockouts. Jerry is 39-5-4 with 24 knockouts. Foster 47-5 with 40 kayos and Mike 36-0 with 12 knockouts.

The official weigh-in will be held Tuesday.

Rojas Lets Royals Tip Sox, Wood 4-1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cookie Rojas singled in two runs and scored once, leading the Kansas City Royals to a 4-1 American League baseball victory over Wilbur Wood and the Chicago White Sox Monday night.

Rojas, who got two singles, lashed one of them with two out in the third inning to score Fred Patek and Amos Otis. Patek had hit his 15th double of the season and Otis beat out a bunt and stole second.

The Royals erased a 1-0 White Sox lead with two runs in the second. Richie Scheinblum led off with a single and Rojas reached first on a bunt single. John Mayberry drove in Scheinblum with a single and Rojas scored on Jerry May's bunt.

The White Sox scored their lone run in the first.

Bruce Dal Canton, 4-3, staggered through the first two innings but allowed only two hits over the final six frames. He finished with a six-hitter.

Wood, 11-7, was pitching for the 10th time this season with only two days rest.

Belleville Teen Scores Surprise At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Young Jim Connors of Belleville, Ill., calmed by volatile Pancho Gonzales, scored the first major upset of the Wimbledon tennis championships Monday, beating seventh-seeded Bob Hewitt in a mistake-filled match on the center court.

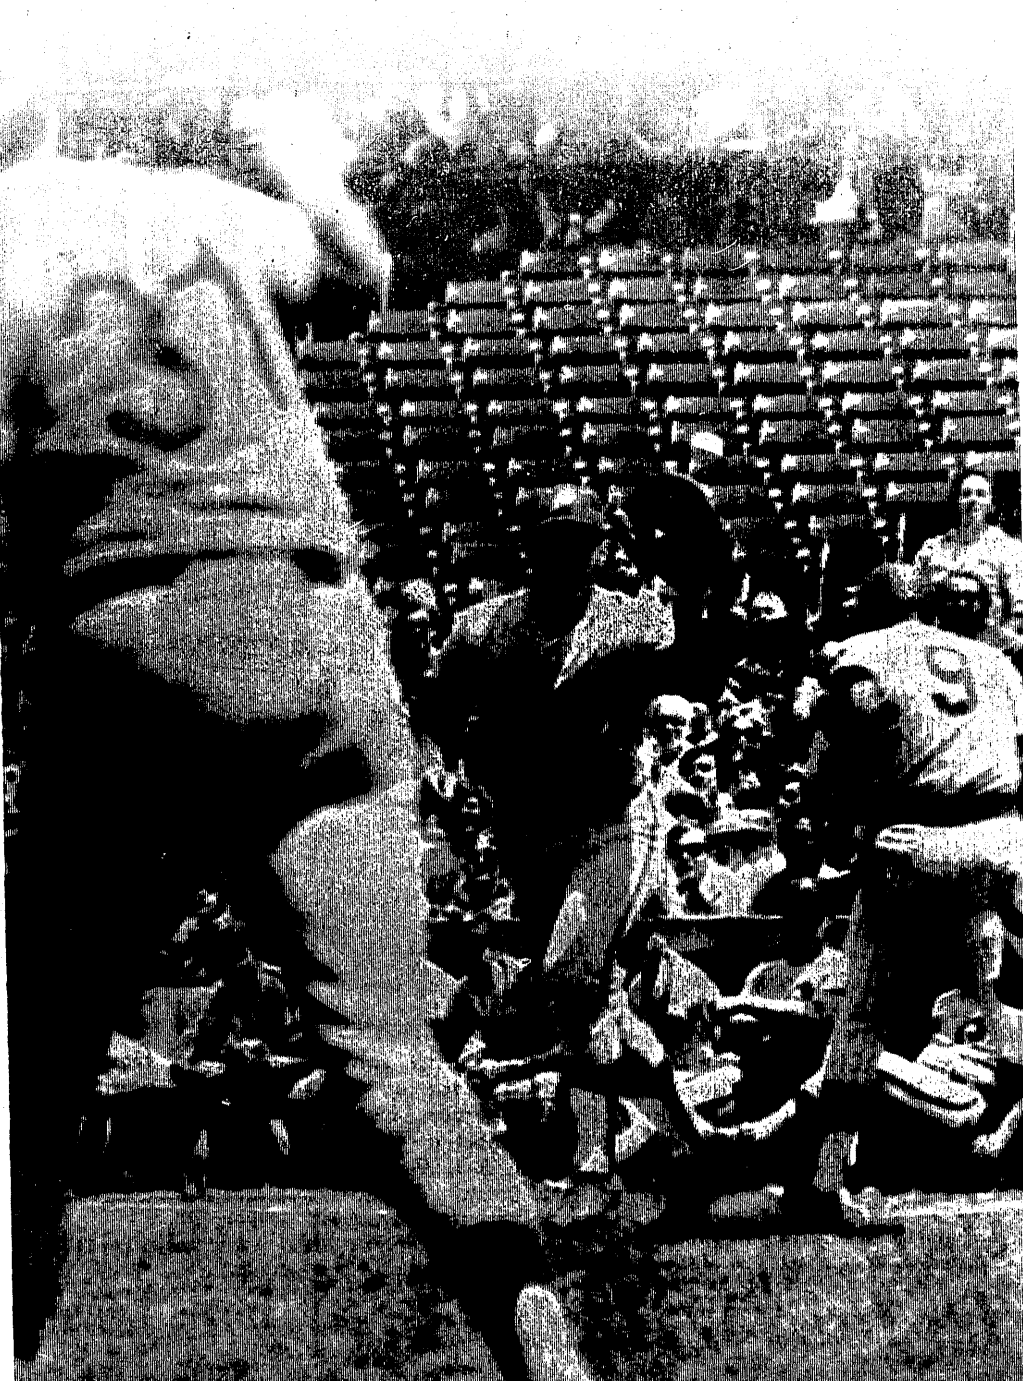

"Pancho just talked to me about the center court and its problems," Connors said after beating the South African 6-3, 9-7, 7-5. "By the time I went out there, my nerves had all vanished."

Gonzales also was calm on the court. The 44-year-old veteran from Las Vegas, Nev., disqualified from the London Grass Courts Championships last week for arguing about line calls, beat Antonio Munoz of Spain 6-2, 7-5, 6-1.

Advancing with Connors and Gonzales were Army Cpl. Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the men's No. 1 seed; Clark Graebner of New York, who had been critical of officials for not seeding him, and Mike Estep of Dallas, making his Wimbledon debut.

Connors, a 19-year-old left-hander who won the tournament in which Gonzales had been disqualified in the semifinals, made several mistakes, but hit enough good shots to beat the jittery Hewitt, who double-faulted 15 times and lost many vital points on volleying errors.

"I went out there determined that when I hit a good shot it was fine and when I missed one it didn't matter," said Connors. "I was just so relaxed I almost surprised myself."

CHICAGO: Cubs' Randy Hundley (9) is safe at first base on a bunt in the second inning at Wrigley Field Monday afternoon. Philadelphia pitcher Bill Champion (31) throws too late to first baseman Joe Lis. Chicago rolled to 11-1 romp.

Reuschel, Chicago Blast Phillies 11-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Rick Reuschel pitched a six-hitter in his major league starting debut and the Chicago Cubs un-leashed a 15-hit attack to snap a four-game losing streak Monday with an 11-1 trouncing of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Reuschel, 2-0, a 23-year-old right-hander who picked up his first victory last week with a six-inning, five-hit relief stint against San Francisco, settled down in the game after giving up three hits in the first inning, including Willie Montanez' run-scoring single.

The Cubs got him all the runs he needed in the second on Rick Monday's single, a grounder, Paul Popovich's RBI

J.S.H Redlegs Drops Twinbill Sunday Evening

SPRINGFIELD — Springfield Quality Furniture broke away in the middle innings in both games to sweep a twinbill from the Jacksonville Redlegs in a softball doubleheader Sunday evening.

The hosts took the opener 6-1 as Freeman and Anderson combined on a five-hitter, with losing hurler Jack McNeely striking two of the hits by the losers. Quality sealed the sweep with a 5-2 spread in the nightcap as Ducky Reed fired a four-hitter.

The Redlegs are now 11-17 for the campaign.

Bryant, Goodson Spark Giants To 3-0 Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Left-hander Ron Bryant fired a three-hitter and Ed Goodson's bat highlighted both San Francisco rallies as the Giants downed the Atlanta Braves 3-0 Monday.

It was the fifth loss in the last seven games for the Braves while, for the first time this year, the Giants, struggling to stay out of the National League West cellar, put together three straight victories.

It also represented the second straight shutout for Bryant, 5-4, who pitched a two-hit 4-0 triumph at Chicago last Wednesday.

Bryant and Braves right-hander Ron Reed, 5-8, were hooked up in a scoreless tie until the Giants scored twice in the fourth. They added another run in the fifth.

Bryant, who outdueled Reed 2-1 earlier this season, allowed infield singles to Felix Millan in the third and Reed in the fifth. Oscar Brown's two-out double in the eighth was Atlanta's third hit.

Local Golfers Place In Meet

BLANDINSVILLE — Three Jacksonville golfers fared well over the past weekend in a Western Illinois Golf Association tournament.

Don Woodruff fired a 90 to capture the fifth flight honors. Barry Bringham and Tom Gee both fired 73's in the qualifying round to make the championship flight, with Bringham firing an even par 35 for fifth place and Gee turning in a 38 total for ninth spot.

Some 200 golfers participated in the meet.

Herbert Hoover said "fishing is the chance to wash one's soul with pure air."

Gibson, Cardinals Net 6th In Row, 4-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe Torre slammed a three-run homer and Lou Brock poked a run-scoring double, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory Monday night over the Montreal Expos for their sixth straight National League triumph.

The Cardinals, who won their 14th game in the last 18, spoiled a return to the majors for 21-year-old Expos' left-hander Balar Moore.

Moore, outdueled by Cards' veteran Bob Gibson, 6-5, was raked for five hits and all St. Louis' runs before retiring 13 straight batters beginning in the third inning.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning, with the aid of two Cards' errors, but St. Louis bounced back immediately for a 3-1 lead on scratch hits by Ted Sizemore and Matly Alou followed by Torre's 10th homer.

It became 4-1 St. Louis the next inning when Dal Maxvill Gibson permitted only two singled with one out and rode home one out later when Expos' center fielder Boots Day misjudged Brock's liner and let the ball sail over his head.

Montreal closed to 4-3 on singles by Mike Jorgenson and Tim McCarver followed by Ron Fairly's double in the third, but Gibson permitted only two more hits the rest of the way.

Koosman, McGraw Edge Pirates 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Left-hander Jerry Koosman, with last-out help from reliever Tug McGraw, pitched New York to a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh Monday night, moving the Mets within two games of the first place Pirates in baseball's National League East Division.

Koosman, bidding for his first complete game since last Aug. 30, fell one out short. McGraw came on with two on and two out in the ninth to retire Dave Cash and save the victory.

The Mets snapped the tie in the nationally-televised game with two runs in the seventh off losing pitcher Bob Moose, 5-4.

Ted Martinez singled and stole second as Willie Mays struck out for the second out. Bud Harrelson delivered the tiebreaking run with a single to center and Tommie Agee's double to right brought in the second run.

Duran Surprises Champ Buchanan

NEW YORK (AP) — Roberto Duran of Panama won the world lightweight boxing championship Monday night when Ken Buchanan, floored by a low punch after the bell had rung at the end of the 13th round, was unable to come out for the 14th round.

The fight ended in pandemonium with Buchanan's corner bitterly protesting after the champion had been carried to his stool by trainer Gil Clancy and New York State Athletic Commission Dr. Edwin Campbell.

Referee Johnny LoBianco ruled that the punch did not incapacitate Buchanan and gave the fight to the 21-year-old challenger when Buchanan's corner said he could not continue.

The fight goes into the record book as a 13th round knockout. LoBianco ruled that the punch which apparently hit Buchanan below the belt was not a foul and that Buchanan simply could not continue.

LoBianco had warned Duran for low punches earlier in the 13th round. Shortly before the round ended, Duran stunned the Scot with a smashing right hand to the head.

Then, as the bell rang, both fighters continued punches and Buchanan suddenly hit the floor. His trainer, Clancy, and Dr. Campbell, leaped into the ring and carried the champ to his corner and Buchanan's handlers began screaming, "Foul."

However, LoBianco ruled the punch was a good one to the solar plexus.

The fight started on a wild note when the unbeaten Duran knocked Buchanan down with a right hand to the head with the bout only 15 seconds old.

Buchanan was apparently off balance but it was ruled a knockdown. He took a mandatory eight count after jumping up.

From then on, Duran kept brutal pressure on. He hurt the champion in the fifth round with a left and right hand early in the round and with another right that knocked Buchanan into his corner later. He also knocked the Scot's mouthpiece out with a left hand still later.

Duran was far ahead on the cards of all officials when the bizarre ending that sent the Madison Square Garden crowd of 18,821 home.

LoBianco gave Duran eight of the first 12 rounds, scored three for Buchanan and called one even. Judge Jack Gordon had it 8-3-1 for Duran and judge Bill Recht scored it 9-2-1 for Duran. The Associated Press had a Panamanian ahead 9-3.

In scoring his 29th victory and 25th knockout, Duran returned the crown to Panama. Buchanan had won the title by outpointing Israel Laguna of Panama in 15 rounds on Sept. 26, 1970. This was his fourth defense of the championship and his second loss against 43 victories.

Buchanan got a guarantee of $125,000—a record price for a lightweight. Duran received 15 per cent of the gate and ancillary revenue. The Garden gate was $223,901.

Track Winners

Richard Petty won the 145th race of his career in 100 degrees in Texas, Ralph Latham enjoyed bright sunshine in romping to victory in Indiana and a spring bubbled over a little bit too much in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania.

Those were the highlights of the weekend's auto racing program, one of the lightest of a record-setting season thus far.

Petty, driving a 1972 Dodge, finished a lap ahead of chief adversary Bobby Allison to cop the Lone Star 400-mile race for National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing Grand National stock cars at Texas International Speedway at Bryan.

The tall veteran from Randleman, N.C., grabbed the lead on the 136th circuit of the two-mile Texas layout and fought off challenges by both Allison and Dodge-driving Bobby Isaac to average 144.185 miles per hour for the 250 laps.

Ranson Claims Carnation Meet Via Comebacks

MURRAYVILLE — Ranson Insurance of Jacksonville rebounded from an earlier defeat and roared from behind in the championship game to capture the Carnation Slow Pitch Softball Tournament Sunday evening.

Ranson did it the hard way Sunday after losing Saturday in the 16-team double elimination tournament. Ranson started Sunday's play with a 12-8 count over Byers Brothers, coming from an 8-2 deficit in the early innings. The winners then nipped Illinois Road Contractors 5-4 in eight innings, clipped Jacksonville VFW 15-4, downed Waverly 8-2 and came from a 10-1 deficit to top Waverly 17-12 in the championship tilt. Ranson came up with nine runs in the seventh inning for the win.

Waverly finished second after dropping VFW 14-10 Sunday afternoon, with VFW finishing third in the meet that drew big crowds both days.

In other action Sunday, Kaiser Supply whipped Carnation 16-7 and Illinois Road Contractors eliminated Kaiser Supply 13-9, following a 13-12 defeat of the same team on Saturday.

Chuck Erdman of Carnation won the batting average with .722 and Don Kording of Kaiser Supply took the home run trophy with five roundtrippers.

Proceeds of the tournament went to the Murrayville Pony and Khoury League teams.

'MASKARADE' TO U.S.
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The American premiere of Carl Nielsen's comic opera, "Maskarade," will be presented by the St. Paul Opera Co. this summer.

It will be sung in a new English translation, with Mary Beth Peil as Leonora and Gimi Beni, who did the translation, as Hieronimus.

Nielsen, Denmark's most famous composer, based the work on a comedy by Ludvig Holberg. It was first presented in Copenhagen in 1906.

Latham, of Cincinnati, drove a Chevrolet to a quarter-lap victory in a 100-lap dirt track event for U.S. Auto Club stockers at Terre Haute. Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., was second in a Dodge and Chuck McWilliams of Walton, Ky., was fourth in a Plymouth.

At Pocono, Pa., where qualifying was to have been held Saturday and Sunday to set a 33-car field for the $400,000 Schaefer 500, a spring under the third turn at Pocono International Raceway bubbled up persistently to shut the track down for the sixth straight day Sunday.

With six of the seven scheduled practice days having been washed out by rains that flooded much of Pennsylvania, time trials were set back to Thursday and Friday of this week.

The race, the second jewel in USAC's "Triple crown" of 500-mile events that include Indianapolis and Ontario, Calif., is scheduled for July 2. The winner will be paid about $100,000—third largest first place check in auto racing.

Among the entries are Bobby Unser—he clocked 185.299 m.p.h. in practice last Tuesday—and his brother, Al Unser; Roger McCluskey, Gordon Johncock, 1971 inaugural Schaefer winner Mark Donohue, Pete Revson, Gary Bettenhausen and Mario Andretti.

The two Unseers, along with McCluskey and Johncock, took time out from the dreary weather at Pocono to run in the stock car race at Terre Haute. They might have stayed in Pennsylvania.

Al Unser led most of the Terre Haute race in a Ford, but was knocked out of action by ignition problems with six laps remaining. He was credited with 15th place.

Bobby Unser went only 55 laps in a Plymouth before his engine broke, relegating him to 18th place. McCluskey, a three-time USAC stock car champ, was the early leader before he had to quit with handling problems after 58 circuits of the half mile oval.

Johncock did better. He managed 11th place in a Ford.

Coaches Grid Game On Solid Ground

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Football, in the form of the Coaches All-America game, might have once been on unsteady ground. But no longer.

The series started in 1961 in Buffalo, N. Y., and had some ho-hum years there and in Atlanta. But for the past three years the game has drawn more than 40,000 persons in Lubbock and the American Football Coaches Association voted once again last weekend to return to the Texas Tech campus next year.

The official temperature at game time was 95 degrees, the blinking sign at the bank around the corner from Jones Stadium read 101 degrees and a thermometer placed on the Astroturf just before kickoff soared to 120 degrees.

Yet there were 42,314 persons in the stands, the second largest crowd ever to see one of the series.

Bear Bryant of Alabama, president of the Coaches Association who guided the East team to an upset 42-20 win over the West to even the series at 6-6, is delighted the game has found a profitable home.

"People here have proven during the past three years that there can be an interest in the game and that it will work if played in a college town instead of one competing with the pros."

"Television is giving it more and more each year, and since moving to Lubbock we have been in the black with the game."

The game itself was something less than a classic. The heavily favored West committed three major mistakes in the first half—a blocked punt, a fumble and an intercepted pass—and all three led to East touchdowns.

The first one was scored by Bill Taylor of Michigan, who wound up gaining 92 yards in 17 carries and winning the game's most valuable player award.

From then on, in succession the East got scores on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Paul Miller to North Carolina teammate Lewis Jolley; on a one-yard plunge by Alabama's Johnny Musso; a 25-yard run by Curt Watson of Tennessee; another one-yarder by Taylor and finally a 15-yard toss from Miller to John McMakin of Clemson.

Not only did the West bobble the ball more times than it could afford, but the attempt by Coach Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma to put in the Wishbone-T offense proved to be a bust.

DETROIT — Bill Muncy, formerly of Detroit and driving the Atlas Van Lines unlimited hydroplane U-71, is all alone in his high-flying, self-made Detroit River mist Sunday. Muncy leans back in his boat and claps his hands in joy after finishing first in the Gold Cup Final thus winning his fifth Gold Cup. Muncy, 44, averaged 103.547 miles per hour and grabbed the $14,750 purse to tie the legendary Gar Wood with the most wins.

Jamieson Fights Off The Pressure

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (UPI)—Jim Jamieson, having finally won a golf tournament, told it like it was.

"I really felt the pressure," admitted Jamieson, who was on the verge of blowing an eight-stroke lead before he straightened out Sunday and won the $30,000 top prize in the Western Open.

"I'll be honest with you," Jamieson said. "I didn't feel it sleeping last night or anything, and I didn't feel it on the driving range, but when I got to the practice putting green and when I got up on the first tee, I felt the pressure."

Jamieson, duck-hooking drives like a 15-handcapper, bogeyed two of the first three holes in Sunday's final round, then turned around, shot a two-under-par 69 for a 72-hole total of 271, and won by six strokes—the biggest victory margin of the year on the PGA tour.

The 5-foot-10, 210-pound Jamieson, striking a blow for chubby folks everywhere, birdied the short, par-5, fourth hole, and even though Labron Harris was on the course threatening the record, there was never a question about the winner after that.

Harris finished with a six-under-par 65, matching the competitive course record, and placed second with 277.

The victory was the first for Jamieson since he joined the PGA tour four years ago and raised his earnings for the year to $77,603. He donated $2,000 of his purse to the Chick Evans Caddy Scholarship Fund, beneficiary of the tournament, and used some of the rest to buy champagne for the writers, a la the late Tony Lama.

Hale Irwin, Jim Wiechers and Bob Lunn finished in a three-way tie for third place, a distant nine strokes behind Jamieson, at 280, and five more players were at 281—Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron, David Graham, Tom Weiskopf and J. C. Snead.

Jamieson shared or held the lead after every round of the tournament, shooting 68-67-67-69 over the short but tight Sunset Ridge Country Club course. The closest he ever had come to winning before this were ties for third place in the Florida Citrus Invitational and two weeks ago, at Philadelphia.

Putting was the key to Jamieson's victory. He had nine one-putt greens in the final round, five times scrambling to pars, and his putting was superb throughout the tournament.

He made a nine-footer to salvage par on the second hole—or else he would have bogeyed the first three in a row and then, maybe, he would have been on the way to blowing it—and ran in a six-footer for a birdie at No. 4 after dumping his second shot in a sand trap.

"Putting always has been the key to my game," said Jamieson, who got some putting tips last week from touring pro Bob Murphy and Dave Marr. "I always felt, I could improve my putting, I could win some tournaments."

Brewers Want Congigliaro Back With Open Arms

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Milwaukee Brewers' rightfielder Billy Congigliaro is missing and the club wants him back "with open arms."

Billy C. disappeared Sunday prior to the Brewers' doubleheader with his old team, the Boston Red Sox. He cleared out his locker in County Stadium and left without a word of explanation.

It was the latest turn of events in the stormy baseball careers of Billy and his brother, Tony, who has now retired from the game.

"We'll welcome him back with open arms," said Brewers' General Manager Frank Lane. Lane and field manager Del Crandall could offer no explanation except that he may have felt dejected because he was in a batting slump.

Lane said Congigliaro and Crandall have been "very friendly. He has been friendly to me. But he's got a lot of pride and it probably hurt him when he didn't play against Boston."

He played in the series opener Friday night and only saw action in the last two innings of Saturday's game. On Sunday, Congigliaro was left off the starting lineup for the first game.

Crandall said he had "no ill feeling for Billy. He's done everything we've asked of him."

"We're concerned about Billy C," Crandall said, "no disciplinary action or anything else. We want him on the ball club."

Crandall said Congigliaro was a few minutes late for practice Sunday and the manager mentioned it to the 25-year-old outfielder.

He said, "Yeah, I know," Crandall said, adding when he asked if anything was wrong Congigliaro answered "nothing was bothering him."

Crandall said he went to do a radio interview and later someone told him Congigliaro cleaned out his personal gear from his locker and walked to a car in the parking lot about 12:30 p.m.

First baseman George Scott, who also came to Milwaukee in the Boston trade, said Congigliaro "looked dejected when he came in and when I looked up he was gone."

DOCKERS DELAY THREATENED STRIKE
HONOLULU (UPI) — The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union agreed to a one-week delay in its threatened Hawaiian dock strike just three hours before more than 900 dock workers were scheduled to walk off Hawaii's docks today.

Gov. John A. Burns said the ILWU and Hawaii's stevedoring industry had agreed to "stop the clock" and continue "intensive negotiations" for another week. The new deadline is 12:01 a.m. Monday, July 3.

It's not likely to make Montreal's Tim Lincecum feel a whole lot better now, but Steve Carlton didn't really mean to beat him. "I'm sorry I plunked Foli on the head," said Carlton of the fourth inning pitch that precipitated a baseball free-for-all between the Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

"I was trying to get him in the ribs, but the ball got away on me."

Foli bounced up off the ground and started after Carlton, signalling both dugouts to empty with Montreal Manager Gene Mauch leading the charge. He went after Carlton and wound up getting thrown out of the game when the umpires decided he had thrown the first punch in the ensuing brawl.

Catcher John Bateman's fifth-inning homer accounted for the only run of the day as Carlton's four-hitter blanked the Expos 1-0.

In other National League games, St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-1 and 2-1, Pittsburgh battered Chicago 9-2, Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, San Francisco whipped San Diego 6-5 in 14 innings and Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 5-0.

Rick Wise, the man the Phillies traded to get Carlton, tossed a four-hitter of his own as St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the Mets. Wise took the second game after Scipio Spinks doled out six hits and struck out 13 batters to win the opener.

The nightcap was tied 1-1 until the ninth when Ted Simmons doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored as ex-Met Donn Clendenon beat out an infield single. Bernie Carbo had homered earlier for St. Louis.

In the opener, Lou Brock, Matty Alou, Joe Torre and Luis Melendez had two-hits apiece for the Cardinals.

The double loss dropped the Mets three games back of Pittsburgh in the National League East. The Pirates ripped the Cubs, sweeping the three-game series from Chicago, as Manny Sanguillen hit his first career grand slam homer, triggering a late-inning comeback.

Pittsburgh was trailing 2-1 with two out in the eighth inning when Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell singled, knocking out starter Burt Hooton. Al Oliver walked and then Sanguillen walloped his grand slam homer, giving the Pirates the lead. Pittsburgh wrapped it up with four more runs in the ninth.

Cincinnati regained the lead in the see-saw West Division, moving one-half game ahead of Houston by beating the Astros in 10 innings on Denis Menke's double.

Tony Perez had singled with one out in the 10th and then circled the bases with the winning run on Menke's double. Joe Morgan's two-run homer had tied the game for the Reds in the seventh and Menke also had a homer earlier.

Tommy Helms tagged a three-run homer for the Astros, who split their four-game series with the Reds and left Cincinnati in the same spot they were in when they arrived in town.

Starter Tommy John and reliever Pete Mikkelsen combined for a seven-hit shutout as Los Angeles trimmed Atlanta.

Bill Russell and Chris Cannizzaro drove in two runs apiece for the Dodgers and Manny Mota tagged a home run.

Garry Maddox doubled in the 14th inning and then scored from second base on an infield out to give San Francisco its winning run against San Diego.

Chris Speier had four hits and Dave Rader homered for the Giants. Garry Jesteadt's two-run ninth-inning homer had tied the score for the Padres.

Reggie Smith's three-run homer and Marty Pattin's six-hit pitching sparked Boston's opening game win over Milwaukee.

Milwaukee's Earl Stephenson, making his first major league start, hurled seven scoreless innings in the nightcap and Ken Sanders completed a seven-hit shutout. The loser was Lynn McGlothen, just called up from the minors and making his first big league appearance.

Baltimore's Jim Palmer yielded a first-inning home run to Detroit's Gates Brown but shut the Tigers out thereafter, finishing with a seven-hit shutout. It was Palmer's eighth consecutive victory, but Martin wasn't impressed.

Catfish Hunter stopped California on three hits in the first game and Blue Moon Odom and Darold Knowles combined for a six-hit shutout for the A's in the nightcap. Odom was helped by Gene Tenace's three-run homer and a two-run shot by Bando, who collected five hits during the twin bill, including a run-scoring triple in the opener.

The sweep put the A's four games ahead of the White Sox in the AL West. Carlos May's grand slam home run high-

ISU's Collins Among 12 Named To U.S. Team

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The United States will pin its basketball hopes at the Olympics in Munich this summer on a dozen tall, speedy college and AAU players chosen Sunday after several weeks of workouts under former Oklahoma State coach Henry Iba.

Iba singled out Jim Brewer, a 6-foot-9 center-forward from the University of Minnesota as his top prospect, but added that all 12 men are excellent shooters and quick defensively.

Sven Nater, the 6-11 backup center to UCLA's Bill Walton last season, led the 12 in scoring during 28 practice games played this past week by the five dozen prospects who attended the camp, averaging 21 points and 8.6 rebounds per game.

The tallest man on the team is North Carolina State's 7-4 center, Tom Burleson. He averaged just over 14 points a game in the workouts.

Others named to the team were Doug Collins of Illinois State; Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State; Mike Bantom of St. Joseph's, Pa.; John Brown of the University of Missouri; Kenny Davis of the Marathon Oil AAU team; Tom Henderson, San Jacinto Junior College, Tex.; Bob Jones, North Carolina; Dwight Jones, Houston, and Kevin Joyce, South Carolina.

STATE AIR QUALITY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT
SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Illinois showed "encouraging" improvements in air quality as measured at 83 monitoring sites during 1971, the Environmental Protection Agency reported during the weekend.

The EPA said 36 of the 83 sites recorded an at least 10 percent improvement in the amount of particulate matter in the air during 1971 as compared with 1970.

The EPA report was a summary of the 1971 annual report of air quality in Illinois.

Nat Fleischer Dies
NEW YORK (UPI)—Nat Fleischer, known throughout the world as "Mr. Boxing," is dead.

The founder of Ring Magazine died Sunday night of a heart ailment at age 84 at New York University Hospital.

Fleischer, who succeeded in a large degree to putting an order to boxing records which were all but haphazard before he started compiling them, helped to found Ring Magazine in 1922 and he was still the editor of the publication when he died a half century later and he lived to see the magazine celebrate its 50th anniversary.

The magazine was known as the bible of the business and the monthly ratings it issued for fighters in all classes were accepted by most fans around the world.

Possibly an even larger accomplishment was the founding 29 years ago of The Ring Record Book and Boxing Encyclopedia. The 1972 edition ran 808 pages and it is the source book for most boxing records.

Fleischer was introduced to boxing early in life. His father took him to Coney Island when he was only 10 years old to see James J. Jeffries win the heavyweight championship by knocking out Champ Simmons in 11 rounds in 1899. He never stopped going to fights and saw all the heavyweights from James J. Corbett on down to Joe Frazier.

Fleischer even entertained the idea of a boxing career of his own until he was flattened in an amateur fight.

Fleischer was a prolific writer who usually wrote several articles for each issue of the magazine and also found time to author 53 books on the subject of boxing besides supervising the compilation of records for the encyclopedia. Fleischer's wife died over 20 years ago and he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Nat Loubet. Funeral services are tentatively set for Tuesday.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The new and unexpected devaluation of the pound may not have an immediate impact on ordinary Americans but it is very bad news just the same.

Britain's failure to maintain the value of its currency at about $2.60 represents a defeat for the entire trading world. And since major nations are traders, most eventually will be affected, mainly adversely.

British goods now will cost less in other countries, and so her exports can be expected to rise. Foreign goods will cost Britishers more than before, and so they will be forced to restrict imports.

But there are even larger matters involved. For many months the world's great trading nations have been seeking monetary reform, based on agreements to maintain currency values. Fixed values, it is felt, are necessary to provide confidence for trade.

Even greater damage may have been done to another set of goals sought through a monetary union of Common Market nations. Under this agreement, Britain and other market members agreed to maintain parity with each other.

The challenge now is to contain the damage and repair the crack. But the danger exists also that it might spread and throw into disarray a good many other agreements that were laboriously worked out.

In one respect the world's trading nations are being drawn together. But at the same time many of them are either imposing subtle restraints on trade or are declining to lift existing impediments.

For trade among nations to prosper, there must be freedom in the movement of goods and believability in the value of currency used to pay for goods.

Both have probably suffered from Britain's action. Adding to the difficulty in maintaining agreements are disparities in the condition of national economies. Some countries, such as West Germany, have trade surpluses and strong currency. Others, like Britain, have deficits and weaknesses.

In short, if an economy isn't strong the value of the currency almost inevitably will adjust itself downward, either by a set figure or "floated" — really "sunk" — to a more realistic level.

Britain now has admitted that its economy isn't sufficiently strong to maintain its currency at $2.60. Instead, it plans to let the market place itself — demand and supply — fix the price.

About the only thing certain is that the new price will be lower. The rest is conjecture.

Don't Assume You're Getting Joint Air Fare

By CARLTON SMITH

You'll save at least $4 every time you have to change airlines to reach a destination by making sure you're getting the new "joint fare" required under a Civil Aeronautics Board ruling effective this month.

Formerly, when you had to use two or more different airlines to reach your destination, each airline charged its full fare for that part of your trip.

Under the new rule, the airlines must offer passengers a single fare for the whole trip, which will result in minimum savings of $4 at each change of airlines. On longer trips you can pocket a good difference.

Don't assume you're being given advantage of the new joint fare. Make it a point to ask what the difference is between the separate fares and the joint fare. Airline agents mean well, but they're human and make mistakes, or forget.

A traveler of our acquaintance got a $32 refund after a three-legged trip recently when, by chance, she called to ask for a breakdown of the fares for expense account purposes. She was told she'd been overcharged that much.

That suggests that it's a good idea to make a second call to the airline, after you've bought a ticket, and ask a second agent to figure the price. It's the only way most travelers have of double-checking—and as Shakespeare or someone said, to err is human; to refund, divine.

Many taxpayers who've had to file declarations of estimated tax during past years, because of nonwage income, are being relieved of that chore this year.

The I.R.S. has raised the ceiling on the amount of income nonfilers are allowed.

You're still required to file the estimate (and make the payment) if income from sources other than wages "can reasonably be expected" to exceed $500. Formerly you had to file the estimate if you had, or expected to have, $200 or more of income not subject to withholding.

You also were formerly required to file a declaration (and you probably didn't even know it) if husband and wife, filing a joint return, had combined income of more than $10,000.

Now you're excused if the combined income is under $20,000. If you just learned that you should have filed a declaration last year because the family income was more than $10,000, and you didn't—don't cringe in a corner waiting for an I.R.S. agent to knock on the door. Estimated tax penalties for 1971 have been waived.

Even if you had more than $200 of outside income and didn't make your payments on the estimated tax, you're covered by the amnesty so long as you squared accounts with Uncle when you filed your return earlier this year.

NEW CROP SOYBEAN FUTURES DECLINE

By ED DE MOCH
AP Business Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Generally favorable weather for growth of crops now in the ground influenced the selling of agricultural commodity futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

New crop soybean futures dipped 2 cents a bushel and corn was down 1/2 cent. Oats were down 1/4 cent.

Soybean oil lost around 10 points and soybean meal eased around 20 points. Fed broilers were little changed in very light trade.

Wheat futures stood off alone, gaining 1 1/2 cents. Most of the buying was in the nearby July option as sellers became wary.

Some local professionals also bought the nearby against sales of deferreds.

In the soybean complex new crop options were under most selling pressure. The November option was most active, easing 2 cents within minutes of the opening. Some resistance later developed as prices turned around.

Oil and meal trade was much lighter than in the bean pit.

There was some commercial hedge selling in the corn pit on the opening and prices eased 1/2 cent before local professional buying took over. Trade moved at a slow pace, however.

Oats dealings also were light and generally without inside influence.

After about an hour, wheat was 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel higher, July 1.41 1/2; corn was 1/2 to 3/4 lower, July 1.20 1/2; oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, July 69 cents and soybeans were 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents lower, July 3.41 1/2.

After the halfway point, soybeans were 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel lower, July 3.41 1/2; wheat was 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents higher, July 1.41 1/2; corn was 1/2 to 3/4 lower, July 1.19 1/2 and oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, July 69 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Selling caused by investor concern over the international monetary situation and rising interest rates left the stock market sharply lower Monday. Trading was slow, however.

Analysts and brokers said there was very little buying interest in the wake of the international monetary developments, which had put pressure on the dollar. They also noted that the increase in the prime lending rate begun by several major banks last week became more general throughout the country Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed down 8.28 at 938.41. Earlier in the session the blue-chip indicator was off more than 14 points.

On the Big Board, declines outpaced advances 999 to 415 among the 1,742 issues traded. At the market's lowest point of the session, losers led gainers 4 to 1.

Big Board volume of 12.73 million shares was down from Friday's turnover of 13.94 million.

The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,400 common stocks was off .43 at 59.46.

The Associated Press 60-stock average finished the day down 2.5 at 323.5, a new 1972 low. Industrials were off 4.5, rails were down 1.3 and utilities were off .5.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index fell .10 to 27.27 as trading reached 3.85 million shares, up slightly from Friday's 3.57 million.

UAL Inc. topped the Big Board active list, closing down 2 1/2 at 39 1/2 on 316,800 shares, including blocks of 189,000 shares at 39, and 60,000 shares at 39 1/2.

Eighty blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded on the Big Board Monday, compared with a revised total of 114 such blocks Friday.

The first American in space was Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard who ascended 115 miles in a rocket May 5, 1961.

Broader coverage when you need it... and lower cost when you've earned it.

Aetna's All-Driver Plan.

It's the most popular auto insurance we've ever handled—because it has something to offer just about every driver.

For example, even if your present insurance company is already giving you a lower rate for your safe driving record, the Aetna All-Driver Plan should be able to beat it.

Had a couple of fender-benders in the past few years? No problem. You could still save. The All-Driver premium may be less than other insurance companies would ask.

And if you've really had bad luck—maybe find it hard to get any insurance at all, you should still qualify for All-Driver. Get the broad coverage you need. Plus the best available guarantee on renewal.

Call us, or come in. You'll discover you are one of the drivers that will do better with All-Driver.

Mayor Gives Finance Report On Utility; Table Reorganization

Mayor Dan F. Lahey Monday night gave a report on a recent trip to Des Moines, Ia., seeking additional financing for the city's electric utility from the present bondholder, Carlton Beh.

Lahey told the council that he and Jameson received assurance that the city could receive up to $360,000 or any part of it immediately.

Lahey said more funds could be available if necessary.

Lahey explained that the amount necessary for working capital (to pay off accounts payable) and a tie-in with WIPCO lines (about $110,000) would amount to about $360,000. He said the funds could be handled in the form of pledge orders for bonds at a future date, possibly three or four months into 1973.

Reason for the delay and use of pledges would be to eliminate possibility of losing a Class A rating and having to float junior lien bonds which command a "much higher" rate of interest.

The pledges toward future bonding would permit the city to make bond payments this year and the first of 1973 so that a new issue would not require the junior lien (second mortgage) bonds, which automatically eliminates the Class A rating of the city's credit standing. Lahey said this appeared to be in the best interests of the city.

Lahey said the bondholder discussed working capital, WIPCO tie-in, urban renewal, the 1967 bond issue and other things such as a suitable rate increase in the electric department.

Lahey said it would take about $709,000 to do everything in the electric department, including the city's share of expansion and repair under urban renewal.

There was little action from the council floor concerning the report. Lahey said he was hopeful that somebody would suggest how much money to borrow.

Utilities Supt. Robert Jameson said the final rate report would be subject to the amount of money the council decided to borrow.

Several council members asked about the forecast on the long-term view if the immediate problems were solved by borrowing money.

Jameson said he had already put into effect a 30 per cent reduction for electric charges for both water and sewer departments.

No Committee

Lahey told the council that circumstances have changed and that he would not name a committee of citizens to look into the electric department. Lahey said things change from day to day at city hall and that he didn't think such a committee would be warranted at this time.

The committee was urged by Alderman Larry Evans last February and appointments promised by the mayor, at intervals, since that time.

Alderman Evans made a move for first reading and enactment of an ordinance eliminating the utilities superintendent and replacing the title with three separate department heads. Evans prefaced his remarks by saying that since his appointment he has always kept the best interests of the city ahead of personal or political gains.

The motion was for first reading of an ordinance calling for adoption of a plan recommended to the mayor at a special meeting a week earlier. Alderman Tomlovich contended that it was a sort of "shotgun tactic" in that it did not give the mayor, nor the committees involved, time to adequately study the problems. Alderman Massey said he wasn't prepared to vote on the measure because of salaries and other adjustments needed.

The motion was tabled over three negative votes cast by Quinn, Votsmier and Evans. Before the vote, Evans conceded that it may be defeated but it would be a "start" toward getting something done. The motion was tabled and could be rekindled at any future meeting. Lahey said he would do his "darnest" to have a report in two weeks on the proposal of reorganization.

Driver Taken To Jail Until $100 Fine Paid

A 22-year-old Jacksonville man was remanded to the custody of the sheriff at the Morgan county jail pending payment of a fine of $100 and $10 court costs.

Judge John B. Wright Monday afternoon ordered Terry H. Hammers, 22, of Route 1, Mound Road, confined to jail pending payment of a fine of $100 and $10 court costs on his plea of guilty to driving without a valid driver's license. Hammers pleaded guilty to a second offense on the same count.

An earlier plea of guilty to the same offense in February and subsequent fine of $50 and costs had not been paid.

Hammers will pay the fine at the rate of $5 per day.

William Edward Blaise, 19, of Alexander entered pleas of guilty to two offenses and paid fines on both. A plea of guilty to illegal transportation of liquor brought a fine of $75 and $10 costs; and violation of classification on driver's license $15 and $10 costs for a total of $110.

Jesse J. White, 21, of 820 E. Lafayette entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violation of classification on his driver's license and was fined $15 and $10 costs. He was charged with driving a motorcycle without the designation on his driver's license.

Charles L. Rowling of Jerseyville did not appear in court and his bond of $25 was ordered forfeited by the court. Rowling was charged with being overweight on his truck license.

Ogilvie, Walker Vie For State UAW Votes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and Democratic challenger Daniel J. Walker both asked for the support of the 115,000-member Illinois United Auto Workers Union Monday, but so far neither candidate has garnered the group's endorsement.

Both men touched on a wide variety of subjects during brief back-to-back addresses to a statewide convention of about 300 leaders of UAW locals.

Robert Johnston, the union's regional director and conference chairman, told reporters it was quite possible that the union would not endorse either one of the gubernatorial candidates.

Although Johnston introduced Walker as "the next governor of Illinois," he told reporters the words did not constitute a union endorsement.

"Normally they (the union members) wouldn't endorse Ogilvie, but the chances that they will endorse Walker may be the same," he said. "There are still questions unanswered to the leaderships."

It would be highly unlikely if Ogilvie should win the backing of the powerful union. "I am well aware that in all probability the political decisions of the UAW will not be rendered in my favor," he told the group.

Making an Ogilvie endorsement even less likely is the fact that the union already has come out officially for Neil Hartigan, Walker's running mate in the November general election.

On the other hand, Walker has not been received well by the union which strongly supported L. Gov. Paul Simon prior to his defeat in the March 21 primary at the hands of Walker.

"The leadership still has some questions," Johnston said, "they still want to know if it is as simple, for example, to get rid of the sales tax as he (Walker) says it is."

"I don't automatically buy that good, efficient government is the answer to everything," the labor leader added, referring specifically to Walker's often repeated charges of waste in the Ogilvie administration.

About taxes, Walker said that the electorate feels "double-crossed" because they thought the 1968 income tax was to be accompanied by a lowering or elimination of other taxes including the sales tax.

Ogilvie earlier defended his income tax saying that without it many of the programs the state has offered over the last three years could not have been possible.

The attitudes of the labor leaders were exemplified by a poster taped on the meeting hall walls. "Issues of '72: Schools Down, Housing Down, Equality Down, Health Down, Taxes Are Up," it read.

Ogilvie pointed directly at another poster, reading "Better schools—before expressways" and declared, "They (highways) are not just a convenience. They are a necessity to attract business."

Other topics discussed by both candidates included equal rights for women (both favored the amendment to the U.S. Constitution), disadvantages of a state lottery, tax relief and unemployment.

During a question and answer period the labor leaders narrowed in on the need for relief with one questioner declaring, "They (the people) don't want any more taxes. This is a big thing!"

In reply Walker declared that

In Kerner Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — The last pre-trial motions filed by former Gov. Otto Kerner and four codefendants have been disposed of, clearing the way for the start of the mail fraud-bribery trial Nov. 15 in U.S. District Court.

Judge Robert L. Taylor of Knoxville, Tenn., assigned by the U.S. Justice Department to preside at the trial denied four final defense motions. Word of his decision was received in Chicago Monday.

The final motions included a request by Kerner that a charge of giving false information to federal agents be dropped because the agents' original notes had been destroyed.

Also denied was a motion by Theodore J. Ksaacs, 61, former state revenue director, asking that charges against him be dropped because Internal Revenue Service agents did not inform him of his right to remain silent during questioning.

The other two motions denied included a request by Joseph E. Knight, 61, former state director of financial institutions, that charges against him be dropped and a request by Kerner for a hearing to determine if the U.S. district attorney, James R. Thompson, had helped Mrs. Marjorie L. Everett obtain a California race track license in exchange for testimony as a government witness.

Charged with conspiracy to commit mail fraud and the use of interstate banking facilities to promote a bribery scheme are, in addition to Kerner, Isaacs and Knight, William Miller, 70, former chairman of the Illinois Racing Board, and Miss Faith McIntruff, 54, Miller's business associate.

Kerner also faces charges of perjury, false testimony to federal agents, tax evasion and filing a fraudulent tax return.

Isaacs also is charged with tax evasion and filing a fraudulent tax return.

County On Burglary

Court action is pending in Greene county at Carrollton for three persons suspected of weekend vending machine burglaries in Greenfield, Carrollton, Jacksonville and South Jacksonville.

George Yager, 34, of Alton, 32-year-old William Minton of East St. Louis, and Minton's 23-year-old wife, Clara, are charged only with theft of a coin operated vending machine at the Mobil Service station in Greenfield. They were reportedly caught in the act of that theft shortly before midnight Saturday.

The three are also suspected of being involved in two similar incidents at Carrollton, four in Jacksonville and two in South Jacksonville. These incidents were all discovered Sunday.

Greene county authorities said 45 to 50 keys to different vending machines were found in a car used by the three persons. The two men and one woman also had in their possession a list of certain vending machines in Jacksonville, some of which were burglarized here.

The burglaries in Jacksonville and South Jacksonville were discovered at Langley's Texaco; Yording's Standard Service; Don's Gulf; West Morton Texaco; Bill Fry's Zephyr Station; and the A.G. Food Store at 1417 S. Main.

In each of these incidents, a key was used to enter the vending machine with no damage to the machine itself.

Yager posted bond and was released. Mr. and Mrs. Minton remain lodged in the Greene county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

All three are scheduled for further court appearances.

Rock Introduces Plan To Delay Implied Consent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation to delay until January the effective date of the state's new implied consent drunk driving law was introduced Monday in the Illinois Senate.

Sen. Philip Rock, D-Chicago, the sponsor, charged in a statement that new equipment to give the drunk tests is unworkable. In any case, he added, the machines will not be delivered to police by Saturday, when the measure is set to become effective.

Rock said that unless his bill is passed, the current voluntary system of giving drunk driver tests will lapse Saturday.

Under the implied consent law, drivers must submit to drunk tests if asked to do so by police or forfeit their licenses.

"The governor and his people have had all this time to iron out the bugs and have this program ready by July 1," Rock said. "Now, five days before the implementation date, they have a fouled up program and won't be able to meet the deadline."

Rock received special permission from the Democratic-controlled Senate to introduce the bill in the last week of the session. He said he offered the measure at the request of Edward V. Hanrahan, Cook County state's attorney.

Senate Approves $200 Million In Pollution Bonds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate Monday voted unanimous approval of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's proposal to issue $200 million in antipollution bonds.

The bill was sent back to the House on a 44-0 vote.

Democratic Senate leaders had been opposed to the measure because the money in the original authorization of $200 million had not been committed to sewage treatment and waste disposal projects for municipalities.

The Democrats said they were uncertain about federal funding of its share of the projects.

Sen. Jack T. Knueper, R-Elmhurst, Senate sponsor of the House bill, said $101 million in projects are awaiting approval by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The Democrats said they withdrew their opposition trusting that the appropriation would not be committed until federal funds are available.

"I realize this is permissive appropriation," said Sen. Robert Cherry, D-Chicago. "It will be spent and enumerated by the governor when municipal and federal governments come up with their shares."

The $200 million appropriation will come from the $750 million antipollution bond issue approved by voters in a 1970 referendum.

On each project, the federal government contributes 50 per cent of the cost with the state and municipality providing 25 per cent each.
